WE NOMINATE

Donald Morrison Meisel, the highly articulate and deeply concerned pastor of the The First Presbyterian Church of Princeton, who this week stands forth as "probably the most feted clergyman in Mercer County." In addition to quietly observing his 47th birthday, Meisel — in spite of his protestations to the contrary — is being honored by a grateful parish for his achievements and potential in rounding out a full decade of service as the 15th pastor of The First Church, this community's second oldest house of worship and a vibrant church that has been in the mainstream of American life for over two centuries and dates back to the era when Aaron Burr Sr., Jonathan Edwards and John Witherspoon were helping shape the nation's institutions.

Called in the spring of 1960 to Princeton, the personable, tough-minded Meisel brought to The First Church some 10 years of work in New Jersey, divided between two parishes, and a positive educational background possibly complicated by World War II naval training. From 1950 until 1954, he was pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Rahway, while for some six years he gained growing recognition as minister of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church of Millburn. Under his leadership these two churches, both pivotal centers in areas of expansion, rose in membership and stature and developed far-reaching youth programs.

Of German-Scotch extraction, and the son of a career public servant in St. Paul, Minn., Meisel completed his undergraduate studies at the College of Wooster (Ohio), Macalester College (Minnesota) and here at Princeton University. At the last-named, in meeting the requirements of the Navy's pre-chaplain program, he earned enough credits to merit his Macalester degree in philosophy with the Class of 1945. Promptly thereafter he entered Princeton Theological Seminary, receiving his Bachelor of Divinity in 1947 and qualifying for graduate study at the University of Edinburgh (Scotland).

Ordained in the St. Paul (Minn.) Presbytery in 1947 and the recipient in 1951 of his Edinburgh doctorate in philosophy, Meisel has always had a refreshing, positive approach to "The Kind of Church God Intended," the subject of his inaugural Princeton sermon a decade ago. Meisel emphasized: "We are called to be restless agents of the restless spirit of God, restless until we discover and declare what God has to say in every sphere of though, action, and expression, a calling with a special relevance and urgency in a place like Princeton. The inward fellowship is where we receive our inspiration and marching orders for waging the Christian warfare . . ."

Ten years later, as his church does a superb job in thoughtfully defining the purpose and objectives for "Mission Imperative — 1970," undoubtedly the most challenging set of responsibilities shouldered by any Princeton church in the past two decades, Meisel can say: "The real history of The First Church is the story of you, her people, meeting God in public worship and in private, meeting crises large and small, meeting life head-on with great heroism and strength beyond your own in ways that are often unkown, unheralded, unrecorded, but to be valued beyond anything."

For carrying forward the concepts of leadership associated with The First Church of Princeton; for stressing that the church, "a product of the living encounter with God," must be alive in all respects; for believing that the church today can make our earth "a little more like the Kingdom of God;" he is

"WE, THE UNDERSIGNED"

Princeton Acts. The Princeton community has reacted. Petitions and strikes; near-violence from the young, agonizing from the middle-aged. The days since President Nixon's Cambodian speech are a segment in time few people in Princeton — or anywhere — will ever forget.

To the question, "What can I do?" the sharpest response has come from the new Princeton Movement for a New Congress. It's a student-faculty project at the University, but townspeople are eagerly invited to move in, and right now, in time for the New Jersey primaries June 2.

The idea is simple: to effect change, work for the election to Congress of people who believe as you do. In the case of the Movement for a New Congress, this means candidates committed to peace and civil rights.

So far, more than 800 students at Princeton University have volunteered, plus many faculty wives and more than 100 residents of the Princeton community.

Broadly and generally proposed by Professor Stanley Kelley at the University Chapel meeting the night of the President's address, the idea was sharpened by Dr. Gary Orfield, a young assistant professor of politics and public affairs at the Woodrow Wilson School. He's only been there a year.

"I'm faculty co-ordinator," he explains, as he brushes across the wild pile of papers on his desk to answer the eternal telephone. "It's probably a call from a candidate," he smiles, gently, "they started calling us two days after we were founded."

Sign Up! Phone back on the hook, Dr. Orfield says, "We need every bit of manpower and womanpower we can get," and he lists the things he'd like from Princeton residents:

Volunteers can sign up by calling 452 4816.

Fund-raisers. The Movement will need $15,20,000 especially if, as Dr. Orfield hopes and expects, it becomes the base for a national effort.

Students have contributed several hundred dollars; faculty and administration more than $1,000. townspeople already a "fairly large" amount. But the Movement needs fund raisers for a door-to door solicitation here in town.

Campaigners. They'll be instructed in how to do precinct work," Dr. Orfield says. "We'll urgently need people to get the voters out in the days just before the June 2 primaries here in New Jersey, and the May 19 primaries in Pennsylvania."

Already, the Movement has 3,400 students doing precinct work. As they fan out from Princeton to go home for the summer, they'll carry the Movement germ nationwide. And Princeton residents returning from distant colleges can sign up with the Movement here.

Office staff. As students and faculty leave Princeton, the Movement will need volunteer office help to take their places. This means: co-ordinating with students from other colleges and communities; answering the phone; typing letters.

"Townspeople could really fill a critical role here," Dr. Orfield says, answering another telephone call. "We expect our biggest expense to be phone bills," he observed, in an aside. No one on the staff will be paid.

Advertising and Promotion Experience. "We hope to tie in with people who know about advertising and radio. Peace candidates — well, normally they don't have much money, and volunteers could be, literally, extremely valuable."

So far, Movement has almost more researchers than it needs. These are the people who look up voting records, and the kinds of facts candidates need to run for office. Students snapped up these jobs right away.

"We Support." In the primaries, Movement is supporting Lew Kaden of New Brunswick over incumbent Edward Patten for the Democratic nod to a Congressional seat; in Philadelphia, Movement is working for Nicholas Lamont over James Byrne; in Connecticut, it's pushing for Joseph Duffey over Sen. Thomas Dodd

"Get in touch with us, and we'll tell you which are the pro-peace candidates," Dr. Orfield says. "On a nationwide basis, we plan to just provide the research data, and let the local people decide. We're not working up a master list of candidates."

"In the fall, we'll need to be geared up to get people out for the New Jersey registration deadline: the students come back just before that. Then, we must organize for the new two week University break just before the November elections. We hope for student leadership here, with the faculty role receding. But there are a lot of faculty who want to work too."

Dr. Orfield presented his Movement for a New Congress suggestion on Monday, May 4 at the Jadwin Cage meeting; Tuesday, he had an organization meeting and 600 people volunteered; Wednesday, "we got the kids into the campaign" and Thursday, "the candidates began to call!"

Today, the Orfield floor at the Woodrow Wilson School is a controlled hum of busy and cooly excited students, undergraduate and graduate. By that two-week break in the fall, it will probably be a full generator of power.

University President Robert F. Goheen, announcing faculty decision for a two-week election recess, pointed out wryly that the period is open, after all, to students of all political persuasions.

"Other views than those represented by the Movement for a New Congress will undoubtedly be put forward," he observed.

The two week break, incidentally, will be made up by starting classes one week earlier in the fall, giving up Thanksgiving and cutting three days off Christmas. "There is no intention of playing hookey from work to indulge in politics," Dr. Goheen says.

Gown Finds Town. University students reached out to the town this week in ways they never have before. People from the area are urged to come onto campus for discussions and participation in a wide range of faculty-and-student initiated activities.

These activities include the work of a group supporting the Hatfield-McGovern Amendment (call 452-7148 or 9395) and the Union for National Draft Opposition in Murray Dodge (452-3049).

Any organization in the area whose members would like to meet with two students to talk about the strike at Princeton and across the nation, may call Tom Weiss, 924-2108 between 6-7 p.m., or write him at 24 Linden Lane; or write Priscilla Read, '70, 714 Pyne Hall, Princeton University.

A few graduate students have been exploring the wilderness north of Nassau to ring doorbells and urge townspeople not to start a right-wing back lash against universities that could wipe out research funds and bring on restrictive legislation.

One older graduate student said, "We want to explain to people that the University strike isn't a small minority of radicals — it has the broad and deep support of 80-90% of the student body, who feel so profoundly opposed to the Cambodian thing."

Last week, 17 members of the varsity baseball team passed around a mimeographed statement, explaining to the crowd that "we abhor the sudden widening of the war into Cambodia, accompanied by the resumption of large-scale bombing in North Vietnam. We request, that you, as thoughtful American citizens, seriously re-examine and re-evaluate the issues of this expanded war."

The baseball players continue, "there is much misunderstanding and perhaps indignation about what's occurring on the nation's campuses. . . ." and they invited discussion after the ninth inning.

Princeton University's orchestra cancelled weekend concerts in Princeton and New York as "a strong and meaningful protest to present United States policies in Cambodia and Vietnam." The orchestra had rehearsed two months for the events.

In the Princeton community, 16 of the 21 members of the board of the Princeton Adult School signed a statement opposing expansion of the war and "the continuing conflict in Vietnam." They are Jacqueline Johnson, Grace A. Marckwardt, Carla E. Lynton, Evelyn G. North, Joseph Drulis, Carol Allen, Angus Austen, Consuelo Campbell, Michael Curtis, Barbara Diamond, Heinz Heinemann, Diane P. Hempel, Kenneth Michael, Daba Powsner, Anne Shepherd and Sarah K. Wilhelm.

FIRE: IDA, NASSAU HALL

Student Is Arrested. A Princeton University student has been arrested in connection with a fire early Wednesday morning at the IDA building. A half-hour later, at 3:13 a.m., a general alarm was sounded for a fire in the basement of Nassau Hall.

Arrested by county sheriff's deputies was William Burlingham, 20, of 1939 Hall. He has been charged with a contempt of a court injunction prohibiting trespassing on the strife-torn Institute for Defense Analyses property.

Lt. Michael Carnevale of the Borough police reported that other charges from his department are pending. Burlingham is being detained in Borough Jail.

Reported at 2:40 a.m., the fire at IDA was small. Police said that an attempt had been made to force a combustible-type material down an air conditioning unit on the south side of the building.

At 11:18 Tuesday night, police received complaints from citizens of excessive noise at IDA. The 50 or so demonstrators still on university property across the street from IDA were banging on pots and pans and conducting war dances.

The fire at Nassau Hall was discovered by a proctor. It damaged telephone lines, several rugs and paper and rags in the basement. University records stored there were not damaged.

"Our preliminary investigations shows that papers were ignited in two different locations," Lt. Carnevale said. "There is no question that it was deliberate." No one was apprehended.

Sgt. Ralph Procaccino is continuing the investigation of both fires.

STRIKE VOTE SOON?

At High School. Students, and possibly faculty at Princeton High School will vote again, probably this Thursday, on the question of a strike, Superintendent Philip E. McPherson told a late Tuesday afternoon press conference.

The vote will be on two questions: (1) "no-strike" with normal schedule, and students taking part in anti-war activities on their own time; (2) a "strike" of some nature.

If it's a "strike," the proposals must be clearly spelled out, Dr. McPherson and acting principal Florence Burke have told the students. "The students are trying to set up opportunities for the rest of the year so they can do things within certain 'time-slots'," he said, but these proposals are still under discussion.

"Student leaders don't like the word 'strike' and they've never wanted to stop regular classes," the superintendent told the press. "Students believe classes MUST be available: a lot of kids are preparing for things like advanced-placement math and they don't want any interruption in work."

One balloting has already been held. Early Monday, voting was rushed through so work-study students could leave at 10:30 for their jobs around town, Dr. McPherson said. So many resolutions were forged into a single ballot in such haste that nobody was satisfied. Miss Burke found most home-group representatives very unhappy with the results.

So all day Tuesday, home-room delegates, two from each homeroom, and Miss Burke, met to try and refine a single, meaningful "strike" resolution. Dr. McPherson said he expects this meeting to continue Wednesday.

"Parents say to me 'How can you let students just vote and get what they want!' but it's more than that," Dr. McPherson said. "Last week Miss Burke and I went to the Board of Education, and the board agreed with us that last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday would be handled as they were. But this is a different week: I told the board that pattern couldn't continue into this Monday and Tuesday and on, indefinitely."

The superintendent said he has emphasized to students that major policy matters are the province of the board and this is why great care must be taken in forming the resolution.

"For example, it hasn't been clear in previous resolutions what words like 'activities' or 'legally excused' really mean," he said.

The school board met Tuesday night, but Dr. McPherson said on Tuesday afternoon that he didn't plan to recommend "unilateral" action on the board's part before the student vote.

The three strike days of last week, 1,200 of the student body of 1,775 attended class on Wednesday; 1,100 on Thursday and about 1,000 Friday, Dr. McPherson said. Few classes had less than half Monday and Tuesday. Friday, some classes were empty.

This Monday, absenteeism was about normal, with 240 students out. Tuesday it was down even more, with only 205 absent. Attendance is being taken daily.

Last Friday, students who didn't attend class had a choice of seminars and workshops. "These were good seminars," the superintendent commented, "but they only involved a few hundred kids, and they just couldn't be sustained over several days."

Parents, disturbed by the strike, have been calling superintendent, both mayors, the school and even the county superintendent, Edward Callahan.

WOUNDED: Pfc Lawrence Gaylord Rooks, 22, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. Shelby Rooks of 152 Guyot Avenue, was injured in the right arm by sniper fire at Chon Lai, South Vietnam, on April 24. A member of the Americal Division, he has served in Vietnam since January 15 and is now hospitalized in Japan awaiting transfer to a West Coast hospital. His wife, Marie, lives in Los Angeles.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley of the Borough said he d received four or five calls and had heard of a dozen other disturbed parents. But Mayor Cawley added that he was upset because more parents weren't taking an interest in what's going on at the high school.

Township Mayor John D. Wallace said Princeton parents seem to want the mayors to pressure the high school to get back to "the educational process." "Dr. McPherson thinks the kids have concerns that are valid and constructive," Mayor Wallace commented.

Dr. McPherson said many parents came to the high school to see whether their children were in class or not. A few students, discovered to be outdoors instead of in a classroom, were taken inside by parents, the superintendent revealed.

"For many students, this is one of the most exciting experiences they've ever had," Dr. McPherson commented. "They've had total involvement with the outside world, experiencing the kind of learning they've never had before. It's alive now, and a lot of us, including Frank Soda, dean of the faculty, think it will go on and on."

Tuesday morning, as the home room representatives in the cafeteria began their long day of wrestling with words and resolutions, a 100-student group gathered outdoors. They were pro-strike and impatient of what might come from the

We started to build our Master aluminum racket for the average player, because we thought top tournament players didn't like metal. Then we talked to Charles Pasarell, top tournament player.

Start with the flex, he said. Other metal rackets are either too whippy or stiffer than a board. Somewhere in between is the right flex, he said; let's find it. We did.

Take out the twistiness, he said, so we shortened the metal part of the shaft and embedded it in a solid molded handle. The result: greater accuracy, even on off-center hits.

We cut down the "trampolining" feel by eliminating all the stringing rigs and grommets. The Master is strung conventionally, even more easily than a wood frame.

Now, Pasarell said, get me a smooth flow of force through the racket. A metal throat wedge rigidly fastened to the frame interrupts the flow, and creates a stress point where most metal rackets break.

We came up with a nylon plastic string guide, held in place by the tension of the strings, firm enough to get the job done, but flexible enough to let the frame work independently.

When it was ready, Pasarell began playtesting the Master in tournaments. He played into the Doubles Finals at Forest Hills. He played his way on to the Davis Cup Team. He said go with the racket as is.

But just in case, he may playtest it till he retires.

Police Work at IDA Praised

Public reaction to the merits of the tactics used to move the students off the grounds of the Institute for Defense Analyses may vary widely, but Princeton's two police forces received nothing but praise for their work over the trying six-day period.

Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported that every man on the Borough force worked two eight-hour shifts a day from Thursday on, and some more than that. On Monday, 25 Borough police were on the scene, including 12 inside the building.

In his press conference Tuesday, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley commended the Borough's men in blue for their "highly professional attitude." Mr. Cawley reported that IDA's director, Dr. Richard A. Leibler, was extremely happy with the superb police behavior.

The mayor added that "without Township police, we couldn't have done our job." Township police were on standby alert from Thursday on, Township Mayor John D. Wallace said. They also had two cars cruising the Borough. On Monday they sent 15 men to augment the Borough force at IDA, along with 15 Sheriff's deputies.

Mr. Cawley also had praise for both IDA employees and the Princeton residents living near the building for their patience in putting up with the noise and disruption while a peaceful solution was worked out. "Princeton owes its police and IDA a debt," the Mayor commented. "They allowed the necessary delay in the final removal of the students."

Mr. Cawley joined University President Robert Goheen in deploring the IDA seige, stating that it "was in strong contrast to the very constructive actions of other student groups, such as the Princeton Movement for a New Congress."

At a press conference Monday, Dr. Goheen commented, "The IDA seige was clearly bad, violence only produces more violence and polarizes opinion, instead of getting on with the real business of marshalling opinion against the war. The people in Princeton are fed up with, and angry at Princeton students for all this."

hing group inside. They shouted at each other ("let me FINISH!") but there was no violence. Finally one student said, "Look, let's all break up into workshop groups so we can talk about issues."

Dr. McPherson, talking about the learning experience for the students, told the press: "The kids were up half the night planning workshops on the war and the issues of the strike. They've learned how long this kind of thing takes."

CALM RETURNS TO IDA

Its Future Here in Doubt

Facing immediate arrest and certain court action, student demonstrators marched off the property of the Institute for Defense Analyses late Monday afternoon, but not before their six-day demonstration had made their goal of an early termination of Princeton University's lease with IDA a distinct possibility. (For late-breaking story on a minor fire at IDA, see story on page 2.)

University president Robert F. Goheen and Laurence Rockefeller, a member of the board of trustees, were scheduled to meet Wednesday in New York with William Burden, chairman of IDA's board of directors, and Alex Flax, IDA president, to discuss ending the lease by 1972, three years early.

The University has leased a building to IDA, located off Prospect Street near the Engineering Quadrangle, for some 10 years. Until 1968, its relationship with the independent research organization, funded mainly by the Defense Department, went largely unnoticed.

Then, in response to student and faculty pressure, the University cut its institutional ties with IDA, but continued the lease arrangement. With the continuation of the war and the Cambodian invasion, plus more importantly the renewed pressure by students, the University began last week to explore the possibility of ending the lease at an earlier date. The Executive Committee of University Trustees has endorsed this decision.

Dr. Richard A. Leibler, director of the IDA Research Communications Division here, has denied a rumor that IDA is looking for land in Princeton Township. "We have not talked to any real estate agents; we are not looking for another location." Mr. Liebler said. Township officials did not know of any such inquiries by IDA.

Six Days of Protest. A frequent target of student protestors in the past, including the early morning sit-in which blocked employees from work in October 1968, IDA provided a natural target for students, once the Cambodian invasion had given anti-war drives renewed impetus.

A contingent of some 400 demonstrators arrived at the building last Wednesday afternoon, and by Thursday plans had been made to remain there around the clock. Armed with paint buckets, the students scrawled obscene words and political slogans on the brick walls, snapped off a roof antenna and drooped a small stench bomb down an exhaust vent.

Friday and on through the weekend, students remained around the building, as the IDA grounds assumed the appearance of a state park camping grounds. The demonstrators did not make serious attempts to enter the building, but were content to keep IDA employees from entering.

Borough Police were stationed inside the building beginning Thursday for internal security, which was all IDA asked for at the time. No arrests were made for damage done to the outside of the building.

Time to Act. By Sunday, Dr. Liehler wanted some sort of action to be taken to remove the students, and he along with Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, Dr. Goheen and his lawyer Garrett Heher, and A. C. Reeves Hicks and John McCarthy, attorneys for IDA, met to consider several options.

A court injunction was decided upon because it would give the students plenty of warning. It could also be made permanent, and anyone who violated it, cited for contempt of court. It was felt the court procedure had been effective elsewhere, as well as being less provocative and more peaceful than other methods.

GRADUATES: Mary Elizabeth Barnett received a bachelor of science degree this week from the University of Kentucky. A member of the American Home Economics Association, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Barnett, 249 State Road. William T. Applegate Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Applegate of 41 Tee Ar Place, will receive a bachelor of arts degree Sunday from Boston University. He is a graduate of Notre Dame High School.

Arrest warrants naming 32 persons, including 18 Princeton High School students, the rest University students and faculty members, plus a large number of "John Doe" warrants, were issued. As the name implies, a "John Doe" warrant may be served on anyone in the act of breaking the law.

Mercer County Sheriff Charles Kovacs read the orelimnary injunction signed by Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kingfied to the students amid hoots and jeers around 10:30 Monday morning, but students remained on the IDA grounds waiting for the authorities to arrive with the contempt of court order.

A second warning came near 5:30 in the afternoon, this time backed up by the contempt order and some 60 Borough, Township and County police, many attired in riot gear. It barred trespass on IDA property until a hearing May 20 for a permanent injunction. Students were given 10 minutes to move off the property, or face arrest. In response, one demonstrator shouted loud enouth for all to hear, "You'll have to move troops in here, if you ever want to open this place up again." This brought applaus from the crowd and the demonstrators began to sing, "Happy Trails to You," a song once sung by Roy Rodgers and Dale Evans in a bygone era.

At is conclusion, the 250 demonstrators linked arms and marched off the IDA property, chanting, "Ho Ho Chi Minh, NFL is gonna win." The group relocated on grounds adjacent to the Engineering Quadrangle, where about 50 to 60 still remained Tuesday afternoon, under surveillance by several county police. Up until that time no demonstrator had been arrested.

IDA began Tuesday to have broken windows reolaced and the paint removed from the building, its future in the embattled building off Prospect Street now very much up in the air.

ASIA, AGAIN

Council Acts. In a straight party-line vote, Borough Council Tuesday night re-affirmed its October, 1969, resolution on Vietnam, adding pertinent amendments to bring it up to date.

Democrat James Andrews drafted the additions and, with Democrats Robert Hendry and Alice Male, cast the deciding three "yes" votes. Republican Fred Peterson voted "no"; Republican Alan Carrick abstained and Republican Charles Cornforth was absent.

Cast as a letter to President Nixon, the resolution stated that Cambodia and the resumption of bombing in North Vietnam have "worsened the crisis in North America." The lengthy October resolution then followed, and the letter concluded, "no possible gains in prestige or power will justify the continued search for a military victory."

Mr. Carrick, who originally exclaimed "let's stand on that!" when Mayor Robert W. Cawley read October's resolution, said he abstained because it would be "presumptuous of me to sign a letter to the President," adding that as a Congressman, for example, he

"Most Happy Fella" a Most Happy Thing

News Of The THEATRES

Last weekend, McCarter Theater of Princeton University presented the 10th annual PJ&B Spring Musical: Frank Loesser's "The Most Happy Fella."

When "Most Happy Fella" appeared on Broadway back in the 1955-56 season, it was hailed by the critics (along with "My Fair Lady") as one of the best musicals in decades. Performed today, especially during the current crisis with student reaction to the Vietnam War and other "establishment" policies, the plot of this tender musical set in the late 1920s seems both naively simple and a bit conventional.

It is the music that carries the show and Mr. Loesser's score is filled with some of the most unconventional and daring harmonic ideas ever to be heard in a musical ("West Side Story" excepted) before or since. The plot involves the love a warm and devoted middle-aged Italian-American ranch owner in California for a young attractive San Francisco waitress.

He writes her a love note on a menu and leaves for a tip, a piece of jewelry. The waitress, who is referred to throughout the story as Rosabella, is genuinely taken by this sincere romantic gesture and the two engage in correspondence. Finally, when photographs are to be exchanged, Tony, the old man, substitutes a picture of Joe, his young foreman on the ranch, instead, and the plot thickens.

Complications Ensue. When Rosabella comes to the Napa Valley ranch, signals are crossed. Joe is the first person she sees at the ranch. Identities are restored but then poor Tony is carried in on a stretcher, his car having been crashed en-route to the station to pick up Rosabella.

Since everyone in the area had been invited to the pre-marriage party, poor Rosabella cannot leave, and in confusion and shock she marries Tony who she (and everyone else) thinks may not live through the night. After the ceremony, Rosabella emerges from the house as bewildered as ever. She sees Joe whose picture she still adores and the two make love (End of Act One.)

As the second act develops, the power of Tony's gentleness and warmth overtake Joe's youth and virility, and Rosabella becomes deeply in love with her older but devoted husband who did survive the accident and is now recuperating. All goes well until Rosabella learns she is expecting a baby.

In his first film since ELVIRA MADIGAN, Swedish director Bo Widerberg blends a mixture of lyricism and drama into the most beautiful film of 1969; a depressing story of labor strife told against a resplendent Swedish summer, emphasizing the contrast between the beauty of life and the reality of politics. A poignant portrait of people caught up in a small moment of history, it should not be missed (NOTE: Evenings at 7 & 9:15 • Rated X)

Fortunately, nobody knows this except her doctor and her best friend, Cleo, who has come to the valley. Finally, Tony is told the truth and Rosabella decides to leave. Tony at first wants to kill Joe, but upon learning that Joe, unknowing of the circumstances, has left the area to find work elsewhere, he has a change of heart. He decides to call the baby his own and he and Rosabella will live happily ever after.

Who's Who. The show, directed by Milton Lyon, starred Carole Peterson as Rosabella, S T Kimbrough as Tony, Roo Brown as Cleo, Bruce Chandlee as Joe, Herman, Cleo's beau, was played by Greg Farrell and Pasquale, Giuseppe and Ciccio were played respectively by Reid White, Don Gustafson and Robert Rich.

Doc was performed by Ashby Adams, and Marie, Tony's possessive sister, was played by Eileen Young. At the two pianos were Peter Wright and Milton Lyon, who were as always in these productions, exemplary in providing a solid music backdrop for their cast.

Since Mr. Loesser's show is almost a true "American Opera" (music dominates almost completely), it was a credit to all performers that their singing, dancing and general expression of their parts was unusually convincing. Joan Lucas' choreograpghy completed the general fine action that made this production so tasteful.

Mr. Kimbrough, reported as ailing, went on notwithstanding and delivered a magnificent interpretation of Tony. In fact, he was "Tony." What more can one say?

His performance never seemed mannered or gestured. It appeared real and thoroughly enjoyable. And the voice! Mr. Kimbrough used it expertly. One would not have known he had a bronchial infection (announced before the Friday night performance.)

Mr. Kimbrough was not the only excellent performer. There were many.

Carole Petersen as Rosabella was excellent. Her voice was lilting and fresh but it was her ability to portray the light yet very feminine role that gave her presentation such a convincing appeal.

Overall Ability. In general,

Movies Cancelled

All previously announced programs of McCarter's May Movie Festival have been cancelled due to the suspension of the spring term at Princeton University.

All the films, including Godard's "Sympathy for the Devil," will be re scheduled for new dates in the early fall.

Repertory films will continue to be shown at The Garden Theatre under the announced schedule.

News Of The Theotres

all the artists were well portrayed. Roo Brown was perfect in her role of Clee, her more boistrous stage personality a marvelous contrast to that of Rosabella.

The three hired hands, Pasquale, Giuseppe and Ciccio, were not only thoroughly amusing but good singers as well. Marie played by Eileen Young also serves special praise. Her voice was lovely and her portrayal as Tony's sister was equally moving.

So it all comes down to the direction and once again, the final plaudit must go to Milton Lyon who has come up with another gem of a production. This is one of the most difficult musical shows to keep moving, and though there were moments where the action may have lagged, the spirit of Mr. Loesser's show was always present.

FESTIVAL FOR TEENS

At McCarter. Three days of programs and exhibitions from the creative talents of the area's teen-agers will end this Thursday with five drama presentations at McCarter Theatre.

The day is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. with technical rehearsals that will go on until noon. It will conclude at 2:25 p.m. with a performance of Bertold Brecht's "The Elephant Calf" given by a group of students from Princeton High School.

Other drama performances during Thursday's final schedule are "Diary of Adam and Eve," from "The Apple Tree," by students at Middletown Township High School and a scene from "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running," both at 1 p.m.; a cutting from "Diary of Anne Frank" by students from East Bronswick High School and, after intermission, "The Bum in Waiting," an original pantomime from students at Moorestown High School.

The State Museum in Trenton has been the site of the other half of the Teen Festival. Princeton students in Trenton included a group from Stuart Country Day School reading original prose and poetry.

THE WIDE BOW TIE AT SAKS: "We haven't been able to sell bow ties for a long time until these came in," Manager Leon Duprez says of the wide, butterfly-end tie. "And we end up by showing people how to tie them!" (Staff Photo)

IT'S NEW To Us

THE TIES THAT BIND

At Saks Fifth Avenue, Conservative Saks Fifth Avenue has let in a torrent of wide, wide neckties. There must be a thousand of them in the Nassau Street shop — all an impressive 4" or 4½ inches wide — in resplendent stripes, iotricate geometrics and pulsating paisleys. Solid colors, too, ranging from dark to dazzling. There's even the time honored regimental stripe — but now it's as wide as one of the colonel's old boots.

What's more, men seem to be going strong for the wide, wide bow tie as well. Manager Leon Duprez has seen five dozen go out of his store in recent weeks. Here again are the beautiful paisley, geometrics and stripes to shape into a 3½" "butterfly" bow.

"Men's clothes are more colorful this year," Mr. Duprez observes calmly. A native of Boston who has been with the firm for five years, he came from the university shop in Cambridge last July to manage the Princeton store.

He draws from the rack a light red jacket with widely spaced double stripes of white. "to wear with your hoater." It's a two-button affair, with the high center vent in the back and shaped sides. It also comes in blue and in brown with the same vertical white stripe.

There is a wide selection among the fitted, two-button suits made of dacron-and-wool. These are stripes and glen plaids, with what Mr. Duprez calls "supression at the waistline" and a patch pocket for change on the right above the regular pocket. They are known as one-mooth suits, good for most of the year. Prices begin at $80.

Even women have been buying Sak's knitted cotton shirts, we're told. The shirts come in a marvelous range of color and design some with a slightly openwork look, others with a knitted in vertical stripe. All have short sleeves and are completely washable. There's a choice of an open neck with collar, a crew neck or a coat sweater with a belt.

Among the knits you'll also find a very heavy cotton knit sweater that looks right for a beach party. In crimson, for instance, with a white stripe and accented by an occasional navy stripe.

The new dress shirt at Saks comes in dark colors such as navy or gold. It is tapered on the center vent at the back and fits almost like the body shirt. You won't find very many button downs at Saks anymore.

We saw a lot of good looking trousers at the rear of the shop, including "ice cream" pants in a creamy dacron rayon blend with a very narrow navy stripe. These are cut with ranch pockets and a flair at the bottom of the leg. Another pair has a weave of small blue crossbars set against a oyster white background. Both have a 2" wide navy belt, backed in leather.

The trousers are plaids, such as gray and blue with a little red, or twills, or in dacron-cotton solid colors of yellow or green, beige or navy. All have coordinate striped belts. The prices range from $12.50 up to about $30.

We also saw double breasted sports coats — a navy and white stripe, for instance, or solid green or gold. You can even match the ice cream pants for a natty suit.

There are swim trunks with shirts to match, denim-loom swim shorts in navy or a lighter blue, both with white top stitching ($13). And kamana-style robes in bright prints — all short with wide sleeves, and lined in terry.

Acting Is Fun: You Can Be Somebody Else!

The STAGE is an empty SPACE . . . an actor uses the empty space to present his ideas . . . . You inhabit the stage space with MOVEMENT, bold, big, aggressive movements, or small, tiny, shy movements . . . you can show a character's EMOTION by the way you move. You must be able to paint a picture of how you feel . . ."

Exercises and lessons in acting and the theatre have been going on all during the spring at the Unitarian Church under the direction of Sharon Bown of McCarter Theatre. It's a joint McCarter Unitarian project.

Last Friday and Saturday, the 43 youngsters, grades two through five, presented a program to show their parents and friends how they learn (AUDIENCE: "The audience is a group of people who come to the theatre to listen and see . . .")

Mrs. Bawn, almost as young as her pupils, is intense, slim, soft voiced and, in spite of her youth, an old pro in teaching children about STAGE and BACKSTAGE and showing them what a DIMMER BOARD is and what the duties of the STAGE MANAGER are.

Her young apprentices this spring ranged from seven year olds in second grade through sophisticated fifth and sixth graders who not only acted on stage, but made their own films.

First, Mrs. Bawn explains, she taught her children the important words, giving everyone a professional vocabulary. The vocabulary of expression ("movement," "rhythm," and so on) was explored through exercises, rather than verbal definitions.

Second graders who performed on Friday illustrated they did big steps—little steps, to involve movement, space, contrast and imagination. They did loud soft exercises to show they knew the voice, its anatomy and its potentials.

They did an improvisation, Games," designed to show the difference between playing games in real life, and acting out games on the stage.

Dressed appropriately in cars, tails and noses, they presented "The Expedition to the North Pole," from Winnie the Pooh, given impromptu using the basic plot.

Fifth and sixth graders appeared in white face as modern mimes. Their concluding idea, a haunted house episode, evolved after the class listened to Mrs. Bown's recording of Gounod's "Funeral March of a Marionette."

The big moment is a levitation — standard fare at teen slumber parties — in which everyone gathers around a person, places two fingers of each hand under the body, and CONCENTRATES. They repeat phrases and then . . . is the body levitated? "It depends," Mrs. Bown says, "on the ability of each person to concentrate completely."

Films made by the older students were individual, not team projects. Students were told to take as a subject "anything in the world you want to say something about." The resulting films are poetical most documentary in feeling.

One, for example, evoked with exquisite quiet, a graveyard and thoughts of death. Another contrasts "pollution" with "nice things," such as a friendly cat or children playing.

"We're looking forward to next fall when we'll have Middle School and high school pupils," Mrs. Bown says. "We'll teach voice, basic acting techniques, movement, the development of ideas. We'll show a kid — how he can be a different character! And maybe make it easier for him to get through those years from 12-18. You know, we have something very important to offer a teen-ager; the theatre is a place where you can say and do things without being laughed at."

THE UMBRELLA AS PROP: In an exercise on Space, the umbrella is an extension of the body. "It helps the actor make a statement and helps him show the audience the circumstances." The words are Sharon Bown's — she's the teacher in the McCarter-Unitarian theatre classes. The umbrella holder is Lynda Yuchnovitz. (Ted Woods Photo)

DOUBLE BILL SET

By Community Players. Two one act plays by Harold Pinter will be presented by the Princeton Community Players this weekend and next in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church.

"A Slight Ache" is directed by Tom Queenan, with Barbara Herzbert, Ned Neuberg and Mike McGrath as the cast. Introduced in London in 1961, the play focuses on seemingly ordinary events which become charged with elusive meaning, haunting pathos and hilarious comedy.

Allan R. Pierce is director of "Tea Party," the second half of the bill. The cast includes Ric Stinson, Alice McGrath, Evan Higgon, Bill Hamilton, Beverly Hagy, John While Jimmy Rosenberg, Hal Cooper, Lois Cohen and Daniel Holland.

Irene Rosenberg is featured in "Tea Party." She will be remembered for her performances in the title role of "Lysistrata" and as Mrs. Railton Bell in "Separate Tables" and as Sarah in "The Lover."

"Tea Party" alternates hilarity and terror in a complex situation involving a family engaged in a sanitary engineering business.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for the six performances: this Thursday, Friday and Saturday and again on May 21, 22, 23. Advance tickets may be obtained at Male's Book Shop or reserved by calling 924-6301.

ANTIQUES

Why do we value them? Because they were made by men who took a deep and abiding pride in the work of their hands. And it is the essence of this pride, remaining forever a part of the work produced, that makes the antique priceless.

Both the pride and the product are all but gone today. But not at Cane Farm. Here humble and patient craftsmanship still re-creates the finest from our oldest and most revered traditions . . . . furniture, lamps, floor coverings, fabrics. Here, too, your old things can be painstakingly restored, your chairs recaned or re-rushed.

Whether you want tomorrow's heirlooms crafted to your own specifications or you select from our extensive sampling of wooden and upholstered pieces, the product will, in every sense, be worthy of the name, ANTIQUE, in generations to come.

PLAYHOUSE

The Ballad of Cable Hogue (now playing) is a warm, actionful comedy about the west during the time when the horseless carriage begins to replace the stagecoach.

Cable Hogue, played by Jason Robards, comes into a fortune when he discovers water in a desert wasteland between stagecoach stops. This brings him to Stella Stevens, cast as a trollop who has steadfastly tried to resist her heart-of-gold impulses. And there's David Warner, hilarious in the role of a bogus preacher with devil-may-care sex habits.

The script is original and witty, written by John Crawford and Edmund Penny. Director Sam Peckinpah gives the film the same quick, violent start he gave to "The Wild Bunch," but there's far less message and more humor.

The "R" rating seems based upon mild profanities and brief suggestions (via medium and long shots) of washing tub nudity — and a cynical awareness of what the "R' can mean to the box office.

PRINCE

What Do You Say to a Naked Lady? (now playing) Allen Funt brings his Candid Camera technique to bear on a voyeur's spoof of the sexual mores in the U.S.

Item: Confronted with a naked female getting off an elevator, several men are not as non-plussed as one would expect. One, in fact, offers her a wrap, which she politely declines.

Item: College students in a class on sex education don't bat any eyelashes when their female instructor appears totally unclothed. Four of their mothers, put into the same situation, start to giggle and are embarrassed.

Item: A female is interviewed about her philosophy — which is that she isn't a "prostitute" because she doesn't get paid for it.

And so on, in full color. There are black-and-white inserts during which people are shown some of the episodes and asked for comments.

GARDEN

Adalen '31 (this Thurs., Fri., Sat.) Writer-director Bo Widerberg's subject is the labor strike which, some 38 years ago, caused the downfall of the Swedish government. In a lush mixture of lyricism and drama, he focuses on the town of Adalen and its people, particularly upon one family. There are many charming and incisive vignettes of life and love under the stress of the strike.

Set against the resplendent Swedish summer, the film is as beautiful as Widerberg's previous film, "Elvira Madigan."

Teorema (Sun. thru Tues.) was labeled both "obscene" and "a genuinely religious work" in Europe where it created a controversy upon its release in 1968. The director Piero Paolo Pasolini, was tried and acquitted on obscenity charges in an Italian court, and then re-indicted on the same charge. Enigmatic, almost completely visual, it appears to explore the spiritual emptiness of the middle class.

And since happiness has a certain relationship to staying within your budget, you'll probably find the gift within your price at Hamilton Jewelers where we saw among watches alone a range from a $5,000 Patek Phillipe with a jade dial on an 18K gold mesh wristband to under $10 Timex and Mickey Mouse watches.

The 58-year-old firm, founded by Irving Siegel, now board chairman, imports its own diamonds from Belgium and sells them for anywhere from $50 to $20,000.

"We've always felt that we are really not salesmen here," Martin Siegel who has succeeded his father as president, remarks in his likeable way. We try to supply a wide selection. We don't limit a customer."

A bride may register her choice of silver from more than 200 patterns. We saw Syracuse china, Royal Dalton china and figurines, beautiful Orrefors vases, Waterford glass.

"We take pride in the unusual and high craftmanship that goes into making up an engagement ring," Martin Siegel continues. 'It's still basically the diamond, too, although a few people prefer something that's a little different in an engagement ring."

The traditional round diamond has been replaced by the pear-shaped, marquise and oval cuts. "But the traditional Tiffany type of mounting is still the top choice," he says. "The wider wedding ring is very popular now, with a Florentine or satin finish and etched designs. Many choose the two-tone gold band, using white and yellow gold.

In the watch department, there are fashion watches like the Sheffield chain or pendant watches; "mod" watches, and all of the known makes up through Omega, Rollex and the ultra-beautiful Piaget and Patek Philipe. Among the Piagets is a watch made with a $20 gold piece as the case. You pop open one side of the coin and check on the time. Handmade, extremely accurate, it costs about $1200.

"Anything we sell, we stand behind and service it," Martin Siegel tells us. "We find it's very, very important to service what we sell, regardless of the price."

Hamilton Jewelers is a civic-minded firm. The Siegels heading or serving on numerous committees over the years. Probably because Martin has four young sons, the company sponsors a Little League team.

When he was 10, he came into the store after school when he could and made up boxes in the storerooms. "The first time I waited on a customer, I was about 19 and this was during my college years. It was when I really knew I wanted to go into the business and stay in it, because I enjoy people."

The firm received a national award as Retailer of the Year not too long ago, and you will find the kind of customer-awareness that goes into the winning of this award very much in evidence as you browse through the roomy store. Drive your car into the parking garage across the street and benefit by the store's free parking arrangement.

Enroll for Next Year

Young actors in grades two through high school can sign up now for next fall's McCarter-Unitarian classes. Middle School and high school will be a new addition, which has included only grades two through five this spring.

Grades 6-7-8 will meet at 1 p.m. Wednesdays next fall; high school students will meet Thursdays from 4-5:30 p.m.; grades 2-3 will meet Fridays and grades 4-5 Tuesdays.

Unitarian young people are given priority, and this spring, the ratio has been about half Unitarians and half outsiders.

Classes will begin late in September and will finish before Christmas. Information may be obtained now from Mrs. Sharon Bown at McCarter Theatre, 921-8700.

A Proposal to the Nixon Administration

As responsible citizens who believe in the process of law, we believe that the decision of President Nixon to extend the war into Cambodia and to engage in the bombing of North Vietnam is illegal, contrary to the best interests of the United States, and a breach of faith with the people of this country, who have been led to believe that the policy of the present Administration is to seek a just and equitable peace in Vietnam. Furthermore, we believe that decisions of this kind on the part of the Administration must be considered, at least in part, responsible for such tragic events as the one that took place at Kent State University.

Consequently we urge that the Administration refrain from making any further commitments until it has consulted with Congress and other responsible leaders throughout our nation.

Drunk Driving Charged — On Horseback

Charles Toth of North Post Road, Princeton Junction, was arrested Saturday evening by West Windsor police for riding a horse while intoxicated.

Ptl. Bruce Wauters observed him making his horse prance about — down the center of North Post Road, over hedges and through flower beds. He told Toth to get off and walk his horse back home. Toth refused and was arrested.

Because police could not apply the motor vehicle code, Chief Francis Maguire said they charged him as a disorderly person under a state statute that prohibits a person from riding a horse while intoxicated.

Toth was released in $100 bail to await a court hearing that Chief Maguire said will be held later this month. Maximum penalty under a disorderly person charge is $1,000 or a year in jail.

Topics Of The Town

would have more time to study problems before acting.

Mr. Peterson said he had confidence that "the Administration knows what it's doing," but he said when June comes, if forces are still in Cambodia, he might feel differently.

Mrs. Male said she was voting "yes" with reservations. "I believe strongly we have a commitment to the people of Vietnam," she stated. In reference to an extended assignment in Vietnam undertaken a few years ago by her husband, Raymond F. Male, she said she was "privy to certain information." She did not elaborate. But she said she was concerned about what happens to the young men we sent into Southeast Asia and she spoke of killing civilians.

Council acted after Mrs. Edward Schneier, 48 Murray Place, asked support of the McGovern-Goodell - Cranston - Hughes - Hatfield proposal to withhold funds for war in Southeast Asia. She was supported by Mrs. Esther Ryan, 7 Madison. Both Mrs. Schneier and Mrs. Ryan are active in Borough Democratic politics.

Copies of the Presidential letter, as passed by Council, will be sent to New Jersey's two Senators and to Congressman Frank Thompson.

IDA. Reporting on the seige at the Institute for Defense Analyses, Mayor Cawley praised Borough police for a "magnificent job," pointing out that they were "subjected to all kinds of verbal abuse."

Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan said "We ate crow and swallowed our pride to avoid violence. But," he warned, "we're not out of the woods yet."

Lowell F. Curran Sr., 50 Murray Place, asked whether anybody had asked the University to do something about the students who are now on University property, having crossed the line after a court order forced their removal from IDA property.

"The Borough hasn't been asked to do anything about University property," Mayor Cawley replied.

"The University has not only condoned the actions of these students, it is feeding them!" exclaimed Mr. Curran, referring to food trucks that have gone to the spot.

"The University has condoned the demonstrators and gives comfort to them for their own objectives," charged Mr. Hendry.

Mayor Cawley suggested a distinction between "temporary restraint" and "capitulation."

"This isn't a temporary situation," warned Mr. Andrews. "While IDA operates on that campus in the presence of those young people, there is no hope of normalcy. In fact, there is no hope of tranquility or peace until American society decides how high a price it will pay to enforce its will."

In more mundane matters, Council introduced an ordinance (public hearing June 9) raising liquor license fees 20%; reported that the $4 parking ticket still doesn't have court approval, and heard a Chamber of Commerce spokesman deplore the $4 ticket as "bad for business"; accepted two new members to Hook and Ladder (both presumably white) and passed the new amendments to the parking ordinance over the protests of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, whose members would like to continue parking on the north side of Boudinot.

PHS Action "Ridiculous."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This afternoon my two daughters informed me that about one-half of the student body of Princeton High School sat on the front lawn to protest President Nixon's recent decision on Cambodia. Just how ridiculous can these high school students get?

I am writing this letter as a protest against such action by our suns and daughters in school. I am as much opposed to Cambodia, Vietnam, Korea or Pearl Harbor as anyone I am opposed to any violence if violence can possibly be averted. However, I am also a very proud American. . . . I defy anyone to name a better country. . . . I stand behind my government and not in front of it protesting its every decision and acting as a stumbling block.

I served in World War II as did hundreds of thousands of young men and women. . . . If we look back over the years I know we Americans have made a gr at many wrong decisions. I know of none that were ever solved by sitting on a school lawn or depriving oneself of an education by not attending classes.

I believe that all of these demonstrations and this violence in our schools is the work of a "very well organized group." I can not think of a better way to "bury the American people" than to disrupt the educational system. My generation will not suffer by all this. The present generation will. God help them!

If our schools are to become non functional, if students are permitted to run the schools and dictate to school authority, then I am suggesting that these students pay for my share of the school taxes. I urge all concerned parents to withhold from their taxes that portion which is intended to maintain our schools. If our schools cannot be kept open on a full time basis as they were intended, then I see no reason why we should pay for empty classrooms. Perhaps those teachers who are so willing to join their students by sitting outside will take a cut in salary for the hours not spent teaching in class.

Editor's note: Princeton High School has never been closed down. Classes have been held and all teachers have been in attendance. If students went to workshops or lectures and a given class therefore had zero attendance, teachers were also freed to attend the lectures.

After IDA, What's Next?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I read with disbelief and alarm of the activities going on at Princeton University in regard to the Institute for Defense Analyses building.

The I.D.A. leased a building from the University until 1975. Now, suddenly, the University asks that I.D.A. leave. Legally perhaps the University can revoke the lease. However in the meantime allowing a group of students from the University and Princeton community to break an antenna on the building, put up a "Liberation" flag, drop a stench bomb down a ventilator and paint slogans and obscenities on the brick walls and sidewalks is not this citizen's idea of what any law-abiding institution should allow or tolerate on its campus.

Good luck to President Gohcen, and the University, when another group decides they want to get into the act and decorate "non-violently" the walls of the University chapel or library or the president's home and decide that these buildings and people are not necessary and should leave the campus, too. I imagine one would read where the University Food Service was serving food to these demonstrators as they did Thursday for the I.D.A. demonstrators.

Allowing any group to flaunt the law by breaking it, thereby hoping to appease a group and contain it, is extremely dangerous and doesn't reflect favorably on a great institution like Princeton University or its President.

Over 40 Supports Youth.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a local businessman and municipal official, well over 40, I feel compelled to speak out. I wish to express my wholehearted approval and support of the students, faculty and administrators of the high schools, colleges and universities across the country who have challenged our national policies of aggression abroad and repression at home. I am proud of the leadership of Princeton and other New Jersey institutions in this movement.

I do not approve of violence, but I understand it. And I consider human life infinitely more valuable than the "property rights" so many of us seem to hold sacred. Who among us would apply the judgment: "He burned down a building, therefore he deserved to die" to his own child?

I support the campaign by Senators McGovern, Hatfield and others to cut off funds for the Cambodian adventure. I applaud Senator Hatfield's exhortation to students to "apply every conceivable means of constructive and responsible political pressure on those who represent you."

In the context of today's world, our national policies can only be described as insane. These policies must be turned around.

The only way this will be done, apparently, is as the result of a groundswell of public pressure that cannot be denied. Youth is leading the way; let us not fail them yet again.

Violent Lesson Offered.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of an open letter I have written to President Robert F. Goheen:

I have worked for Princeton University for about 13 years as an employee of the engineering school. I have endeavored to be loyal to the policies of the university until now, but this disgraceful incident at I. D. A. this week is enough to make any self respecting individual vomit. It has completely destroyed my faith in the University administration, and made me ashamed of my connection with it.

I and all the other generations of my family have fought for freedom in the past, but we did not pay this price for unruly mobs of scum to destroy and desecrate at will, forcing normal activities to a halt, painting obscenities on buildings, shouting obscenities to any whose legitimate business carried them past the scene of this debacle, invading other buildings in the vicinity, leaving the toilets as monuments to their lack of any vestige of civilization.

Both the local proponents of mob rule, and those who appear on the T.V. screen have either said openly, or implied, that unless their increasingly radical demands are met that there will be more violence because of what they refer to as their "frustration." As one of the so called "silent majority" I promise you that there is growing a frustration amongst people like me so large that we will shortly tolerate these actions no longer. Many of us have excellent training in the art of violence and if college administrations and law enforcement agencies will do nothing but accede to these unreasonable practitioners of everything despicable, then our patience also will end and we will teach them the lesson of violence at a level of higher education.

It is time our land was cleaned of all forms of pollution!

WALTER E. EMERY

Tragic Mistake Possible.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Enclosed is a copy of a letter I have sent to Dr. John Marks, the President of the School Board of the Princeton Regional School System. This letter evidences my concern of the announced intention of the Middle School to eliminate grades starting in the fall term and to substitute teacher comments.

The Middle School's plan was discussed at a small meeting of parents and teachers chaired by Thornton Grove, the Middle School principal, on April 30th at Community Park School.

Mr. Grove stated that only a pass or fail grade would be given and that teacher comments on each student's progress, in each subject, would be substituted for a course grade. Mr. Grove said that he believed that since a majority of the Middle School teachers had voted in favor of the plan that he, with the school system's knowledge of the plan, is in a position to implement the plan next Fall. He said a meeting of parents would be called during May to formally announce the plan.

I believe that the elimination of the present grading system and the substitution of a pass or fail grading system would be a tragic mistake for the following reasons:

1. The degree to which a student has mastered his subject matter can not be determined by either the child or his parents without a grade. . . No permanent record of this vital information will ever exist without a grade.

2. Grades are a fact of life in that we are all graded by others throughout life. A pass or fail evaluation is an inadequate basis for promotion in a job.

3. Continued motivation for successful individual scholastic achievement is important and should be encouraged. . . . Without such rewards (as grades), it is likely that some students may not continue to strive as diligently as before.

4. Teachers may spend too much time preparing their students for standardized tests. In competing with other students outside of their school and school system, both the students and their teachers will recognize that the absence of grades will place greater importance on the results of standardized tests. . .

5. The Borough and Township schools were combined into a single system to eliminate possible interface problems for our children as they progress from "K" thru twelve. The elimination of grades in the Middle School places an unnecessary discontinuity in the middle of our school system.

6. Grades are helpful to private schools to which a Middle Schooler may apply. . . . Such a plan should be examined and agreed upon by the School Board, the parents of the children involved and the community at large. . . . An option should be given to parents who do not wish to have their children subjected to a gradeless system. . . .

One reason given by a teacher at the meeting for eliminating grades was that some children become discouraged by repeated failing grades. This is unfortunate but is still no reason to remove the rewards of good scholarship from the majority of our children. . . .

Lawrenceville School, to name only one local institution, provides both grades and comments. Why can't the Princeton school system do the same?

Dr. Nathaniel Boonin, who attended the meeting, said that grades are subjective and therefore a relatively inaccurate measure of a student's performance . . . I fail to see how teacher comments can be any less subjective than a carefully constructed grade given by the same teacher.

The social, educational and personal society in which we live is becoming more complex each day. The type of life our children will experience as adults is only faintly outlined in the distance. We need all the help we as parents can get from our school system, both in grades and comments, to assist us in guiding and encouraging our young to develop in this us ful and responsible adult citizens of tomorrow's world.

Hope for the Future.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I wish to express and hope others will join me and agree with my great admiration for the wonderful evening (three of them) in Murray Theatre which intrune on campus created within a few days, open to the public, no admission charged, contributions for the Princeton students' strike.

These young non professional actors and girls brilliantly gifted, wonderfully devoted to this self set task seemed not to act, but to identify themselves with the words spoken, their meaning alive in their hearts and minds. Words of hope, of non violent struggle for peace, of utmost devotion, for peace and understanding each other, for all the people, all ages, all religions, all races, all nations. Words of great American poets made come to light a truly active part of today and tomorrow. Words urging people to try to listen more attentively, to better understand others.

The second part: A play which, as I understand, was written by two students, a very remarkable play indeed. Only two actors taking part - powerful in its dramatic, direct approach, its stern sincerity. About the loneliness of men passing by other men, never reaching the other one, forever lonesome.

These lines, this letter to you, are only a very poor, very insufficient attempt to call attention to the quality of the work and to express my respect for the accomplishment of these young people, also the clearly visible, beautiful cooperation among them. Let us help them, if and where we can; they are our children's and grandchildren's hope - their future.

Sale Highly Successful.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Another six months has passed, and another successful Hospital Aid Committee rummage sale is behind us.

It is most gratifying to me, as chairman of this sale, that there are so many good and generous people in our area, without whom, of course, such an accomplishment would be impossible. My personal thanks are due to the volunteers who worked so hard, and the thanks of the Hospital Aid Committee go to all the merchants and residents of Princeton who gave so generously of merchandise to sell.

All of us associated with the YM YWCA would like to thank the Princeton Opera Association for assisting us by scheduling its two performances of "Faust" as benefits for our Building Fund.

The opera will be at McCarter Theatre on the evenings of Friday, May 22 and Saturday, May 23. This is an opportunity to enjoy performance and to help your community build the facilities which are so urgently needed for this area, including a new program wing and a gymnasium complex.

Tennis Program Flourishing.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Board of Trustees of Youth Tennis Foundation of Princeton wish to express their sincerest thanks to the Princeton community for their generous use of the spring tennis program. TOWN TOPICS, too, has been invaluable in newspaper coverage of the town's tennis activities and as such has done much to make it a resounding success.

In response to the request publicized in the newspaper, used rackets have been donated in sufficient quantity to give one to each student who could not afford to buy one. Bayard Jordan has also again given hours of his valuable time this year to restring the donated rackets.

With a minimum of solicitation, many individuals have contributed wholeheartedly to provide funds for scholarships. More children than ever before have been able to participate in the program. Princeton is working closely with New York and Philadelphia recreation leaders to develop new techniques of bringing lifetime, carry-over sports to the public playgrounds. It is thanks to the widespread community cooperation and financial support that this experimental part of the local program is flourishing.

In addition, an increasing group of interested parents are assisting with the clerical du-man Thomas Hartmann has split the Township's governing body.

Just before adjournment May 4, Mr. Hartmann produced the notes of a resolution and asked Committeemen, who had not previously known of the proposal, to pass it.

The resolution stated that "the President has caused the constitutional crisis" and "the President is responsible for a tragic polarization of the American people."

In Mr. Hartmann's resolution, Committee was asked to direct the President to withdraw all forces from Southeast Asia and to halt all political trials and other invasions of the Constitution of the United States."

Joined by his fellow Democratic Committeeman James A. Flnyd, and the Township Committee Democratic candidate, Jay Bleiman, Mr. Hartmann this week went to battle with the three Republicans on Committee.

"The failure of our colleagues on Committee to support our motion was a reflection of their own beliefs in this matter: they voted their consciences," stated Mr. Hartmann and Mr. Floyd.

"Under normal conditions," the statement continues, "we would not ask for a formal resolution from a local governing body. These, however, are not normal times. . . . These are the times for action and commitment."

Rejinders Are Sharp. Mayor John D. Wallace and Committeeman William L. Wilson both issued sharp rejoinders:

"This is a gross misrepresentation of my position an the whole Southeast Asia matter," Mayor Wallace stated. "I particularly object to the word 'conscience.' Committee's report and mine, speaks for itself."

Mayor Wallace cited Committee's unanimous vote October 20, 1969, asking Congress and the President to "end the war and to redirect all the resources presently wasted on Vietnam to urgent dnmestic priorities."

He recalled Mr. Hartmann's and Mr. Floyd's praise for Republican Committeeman Wilson's letter to President Nixon at that time. "As I remember," Mayor Wallace said, "they referred to it as one of the most eloquent pleas for peace they had ever seen."

Mayor Wallace also cited Committee's unanimous support of the moratorium last fall.

Bias Charged. Both Mr. Wilson and Mayor Wallace protested the Hartmann accusation of "Presidential responsibility." "Any polarization is due to the war, which I deplore," Mayor Wallace said.

Mr. Wilson pointed to the phrase "all political trials in this country" and said, "whatever that may mean or would commit us to." He added that the call for "immediate withdrawal went far beyond a statement as to the Cambodian action by our forces, which I deplore and oppose as much as Mr. Hartmann does. I would never go along with Mr. Hartmann and Mr. Floyd on such insupportable, flagrantly political and biased propositions as these two items."

Mr. Wilson also spoke of the sudden nature of Mr. Hartmann's presentation: "he simply read from handwritten notes he had admittedly put down during a meeting, and despite the gravity of the issue, that is what we were asked to take official action on."

Joining Mr. Hartmann and Mr. Floyd in deploring the Republican position, candidate Bleiman said, "I am particularly distressed by the Republican insistence on injecting partisan considerations into what should have been a unanimous expression of community sentiment."

"We are not condemning the President because he is a Republican," Mr. Bleiman continued. "We ask only that he reverse the dangerous course on which he has embarked and that he restore our faith in his ability to bring a continuously diminishing role of the American military in Vietnam and for its steady, orderly withdrawal."

While the Democrats urged action at the local level by Committee, Mr. Wilson said he felt the Democrats were "very misguided" in trying to make Township Hall a forum for issoes that belong in the UN and Congress." At the same time, Mayor Wallace observed that few municipal bodies had taken the action Committee did last October. He added that the Borough also passed a similar resolution last fall.

"STOP THE WORLD"

For Peace. "It's a back up for the kids, to give them some support," says Mrs. Edgar Gemmell of the "Stop the World for Peace" day, set for Wednesday, May 27.

The idea, Mrs. Gemmell says, came from Fletcher Knebel, Princeton based author, although Mrs. Gemmell and her husband have been involved equally.

"Call five people who will promise to stay home with their families from midnight May 26 until midnight, May 27 — that's the basic 'Stop the World' idea," Mrs. Gemmell says.

One of the five people you call should live in a distant part of the country. You ask each of the five to make five calls and report back to you within 24 hours, to make sure the chain is working.

Stay Home. "The idea of a march on Washington gave me cold chills" Mrs. Gemmell continues, "It seems to me the reverse was the way to do it: to give the economy enough of a jolt to warn them."

By jolting the economy, "Stop the World" sponsors mean: no purchases from stores, meals eaten in restaurants, rides taken on buses and so on. Church going, yes.

"This is a Ghandhi like passive protest," says the "Stop the World for Peace" flyer. "There is no organization in charge. We have no political identity. We are simply a nation-wide chain of people pledged to keep faith with one another by observing 24 hours of quiet, sober dedication to end the war."

Mrs. Gemmell thinks they've started a snowball, an avalanche or a brush-fire, depending on your preference for metaphor. She reports:

● The chairman of the National Council of Jewish Women has called the Gemmell home to announce that the Council's board will be asked to print 100,000 flyers.

● The national chairman of the League of Women Voters in Washington, D. C. is said to be sending the word to local Leagues across the country.

● The executive vice president of the Synagogue Council, who is also chairman of the Interreligious Committee for the National Council of Churches, is calling a meeting of his colleagues to ask for their participation.

("He told me he'd been wondering for ten days what he could do, and this seemed to be IT," Mrs. Gemmell reports.)

● A column in the San Francisco Chronicle by its famous Herb Caen has brought disc jockeys into the picture.

● "We've got two lines into Hollywood . . . Frederic March and young Charles Knox Robinson III . . . and they tell us Hollywood is very excited about it."

● Newton Minow, William P. Mahoney, former ambassador to Ghana and the chairman of volunteers for Channel 13 are also recruits, Mrs. Gemmell says.

Here in Princeton, she lists John Borden, Mrs. Percy Wood, Mrs. William Sayen, Mrs. Arthur P. Morgan, Mrs. Jackson Martindell, Mrs. John Hite, Mrs. Gregory Massell, Alan Williams, John Davies, Mrs. Elmer Alpert, Mrs. Lewis Kraft and Jack McCarthy, with more checking in each day.

DISCRIMINATION?

New Committee Formed. Questions of housing discrimination in Princeton will be channeled to a new committee consisting of real estate agents and representatives of the Joint Commission on Civil Rights.

Formation of the new liaison committee was announced this week. It was proposed last month by Mrs. Lawrence Norris Kerr, president of the Princeton Real Estate Group, at a meeting between members of the Group, the Civil Rights Commission, and the two mayors.

In a joint statement, Mrs. Kerr and Gordon H. Mack, chairman of the Commission, said "The Committee will function as a center for the exchange of information on questions of discrimination in housing, and as a means of prompt action by the Real Estate Group concerning discriminatory practices engaged in by members of their group."

This "self policing action," the statement warns, won't keep the Civil Rights Commission from filing complaints with the New Jersey Civil Rights Division.

The new liaison committee will consist of Mrs. Roman Smoluchowski, Max D. Blumenfeld and W. S. Fitch for the Commission. Mr. Fitch is the Commission's full time executive.

The Real Estate Group will be represented by its Public Affairs Committee: Mrs. Dorothy Schluter, Robert E. Doogherty, Mrs. Karl Light and the Public Affairs Committee chairman, Karl Light.

SEWER REPORT JUNE 1

At Township Committee. Princeton's sewer system, which critics say needs a specialist in geriatrics as much as anything, will be the subject of a report on June 1 before Township Committee.

Foster Jacobs, chairman of the Joint Sewer Operating Committee and also of the Stony Brook Study Group, will make the report. He's appearing at Committee's request. Originally, Committee had hoped he could appear next Monday, but he has other sewer meetings to attend, so June 1 is now the date.

Committee's agenda for next Monday includes public hearings, on four ordinances: appropriation of money to remodel Township Hall for expanded police headquarters, prohibition of L-shaped lots; an amendment to the zoning ordinance concerning off-site improvements and the acceptance of Turner Court into the road system.

Committee will also hear an appeal by Albert Salzman from the joint planning board's decision on his development.

Eight-year-old Eric Mann, 45 Woodside Lane, was checked at Princeton Hospital for head contusions he suffered when the car his mother was driving last week was involved in a collision at Witherspoon and Wiggins streets. Yvette Mann, 36, refused medical attention for an abrasion of her left knee.

Ptl. David Alston ticketed the second driver, Naomi Alpert, 39, 27 Random Road, who was coming south on Witherspoon, for failing to stop for a traffic light. Both cars had to be towed away.

QUAKERS PROTEST

On War Escalation. Opposition to the Cambodian invasion was expressed last week by a six-member delegation from Princeton Monthly Meeting of the Society of Friends. Meeting Tuesday in Washington with Senator Harrison A. Williams and Representatives Frank Thompson Jr., Henry Helstoski and Joseph G. Minish, the group requested the New Jersey Congressmen to work towards reversal of the Indo-China war escalation.

Delegates were Brinton Whitall, chairman of the social order committee; Harold Taylor, Lilian Grosz, Diane Graves, Mary Carpenter and John Borden.

Senator Williams and Representative Thompson told the group that they intend to vote against military appropriations for the Cambodian invasion.

The Princeton delegation also met with William Mills, assistant to Senator Clifford Case, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

OLD AND YOUNG TARGETS

Of "Cool Fete". The generation gap may shrink a little at the Princeton Hospital Fete, June 13. For the first time in its 16-year history, the event will mix teenage and adult activities with other games and rides which have traditionally been reserved for children.

This year's "Cool Fete," so named because it seeks to raise air-conditioning funds for the hospital, will open at 9 in the morning and run till dusk, in the traditional open field on Washington Road.

A new idea in teenagers' booths, the "Green Bead," will be located near the Rock Marathon tent. It will feature items to suit the most turned-on tastes, according to its co-chairmen Mrs. Alec Gallup and Mrs. James B. Laughlin.

They have tapped teen sources from New York to Pakistan, and promise a swinging array of temptations including African dashikis, hippie jewelry, vests, ponchos, dirndl skirts, Indian head bands, beaded dresses, scarfs, patch work, leather belts and crocheted items including bikinis.

Also for teens and frustrated fathers in the children's area will be an archery range (with bows of all sizes,) and the car-smash event, with sledge hammers available.

Stationary motorcycle rides, silhouettes and quick-sketch artists will be enoyjed by children of all ages. An igloo with an eskimo cutout will be the setting in the Rogues' Gallery this year, for those who want instant Polaroid pictures of their participation in the "Cool Fete."

Children will be delighted to know that the popular pony and fire-engine rides will be repeated this year, with the addition of old favorites like the Paint Twirl, Spin and Win, and the saucer pitch. Second-hand toys will be sold at the Toy Store, and new surprises will be found at the Treasure Chest. Balloons, the badge of youth, will be available to adults as well.

The co-chairmen of the childrens' activities this year are Mrs. Bruce M. Beard and Mrs. William R. Watt.

Trio Heard As Concert Season Ends

A member of the so called "establishment" would have undoubtedly enjoyed the program by the Istomin, Stern, Rose Trio, heard Monday night in McCarter as the final Series II concert of the season. And why not, one asks?

The program which included two works by Beethoven, the "Fourteen Variations in Eb Major, Op. 44 and the early Trio in Eb, Opus 1, No 1 surrounding Brahms epic C Major Trio, Op 87, represents to many an armchair musician and music lover the quintessence of chamber music at its elegant best. Needless to say, Messrs. Istomin, Stern and Rose played all the music brilliantly, with verve with great warmth and tenderness. After all, Isaac Stern, violinist, Leonard Rose, violoncellist, and Eugene Istomin, pianist, are three of the greatest artists on their respective instruments in the world today.

But, if you are a member of the "under 30" generation, a music lover nonetheless the program might have seemed wanting. The first set of Variations by Beethoven provided nothing eventful or earth shattering: pleasant music, well performed, but mediocre Beethoven at best.

The grand Brahms Trio; a good solid C Major piece. Viennese sixths in a sweeping nobility of style, so representative of Brahms, yet somehow, so rhythmically four square, despite the composer's predilection for final cohesiveness. This fine 19th century piece, the gorgeous slow A Minor movement excepted, somehow seemed almost predictable at every turn.

One longed for more variety and then after intermission, came the announcement that in place of the mature Beethoven's Trio, Op. 70, No. 2 in Eb, we were to hear his Op. 1, No. 1 instead. You ask, the world outside is turning upside down, but the concert programs remain the same, year after year as if nothing has changed.

And yet as one listens to the slow movement of this first published works of the young still relatively unknown Beethoven; as one hears the scintillating finale with its effervescent humor and rhythmic inventiveness, one cannot help reflect on the true meaning of art, an ageless, timeless esthetic that is meant to be shared by all men. And that is why music such as this, music that bespeaks of a bygone era, remains immortal as long as there are men and women willing to listen.

BASS-BARITONE William Dansby portrays the role of Mephistopheles in the Princeton Opera Association production of "Faust" on May 22 and 23 at the McCarter.

YOUNG MUSICIANS WIN

Chaucer for Museum Recitals. Three young Princeton musicians were winners at the New Jersey State Museum and Cultural Center in Trenton. The three, Ellen Chang, Christopher Sanborn, and Catherine McClure, will appear in a museum program Sunday, May 24, at 3.

The statewide auditions are designed to encourage and recognize excellence in musical attainment by youth in New Jersey. They offer the most deserving young musicians an opportunity to give a public performance, and they also recognize the important role played by New Jersey music teachers.

Ellen Chang, 12, will play piano in the Junior Division. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kern K.N. Chang, 91 Adams Drive. Ellen is a student of Louise Goss at the New School for Musical Study in Princeton.

Christopher Sanborn, 17, represents the Senior Piano Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sanborn, 41 Chestnut Street, and is a student of William Cheadle at Westminster Choir College.

Cathy McClure, 15, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald McClure, 23 Hemlock Circle. She studies the flute under Mrs. Dorothy Kovacs.

WINNERS OF MUSICAL AUDITIONS: Catherine McClure, Ellen Chang and Christopher Sanborn were winners in the New Jersey Cultural Center Musical auditions held recently. They will perform May 24 in the State Museum auditorium in Trenton.

IT'S MAY

And "Festival Time" The Festival of the Arts Month of May continues to bring forth some fine work in the visual arts.

A special event of the year preserved for the month is the Princeton Art Association members' show at the Columbus Boychoir School. This year as a special treat, it is combined with a concert by the Columbus Boychoir.

The beautiful purity of sound produced by the boys' music listening to them is a thrilling experience. The new gallery at the Columbus Boychoir School will make more of these combined music and art experiences possible in the following years, a happy circumstance for all Princetonians.

The new gallery will have the mixed media show of the Princeton Art Association through the month of May. Carin Laughlin's oil painting, "Flowers" makes its impact by the transparencies of color overlapping one another to create interesting spatial relationships and a kaleidoscope of exciting color.

"Interior With Yellow Cat" is intriguing. The title provokes the onlooker to search in the masses of color and texture for its subject. However the painting is primarily an abstract and we find the blues carrying our eye through the painting and the curved form contrasted with straight edge the main subject matter.

The oil painting of Ruth Roufberg's is a good example of a limited palate hard edge painting. The heavy controlled line of the well placed figure contrasts with the finer line of the background and makes a good composition.

Youth. The McCarter show this month is also something special. Titled "Princeton Youth in Art" it displays work of young people from almost every school in Princeton. It is interesting to note that there is about an equal mixture of traditional and experimental abstract work being produced.

In the more traditional approach, there are several still lifes which show the students' struggle to reproduce the colors as adults have seen it for centuries. The pencil portrait by Alice Holland does the most successfully and uses interesting subject matter.

The copper metal sculpture of a bee by Tania Neschis in which appears to be cut, bended and riveted is quite exceptional and most exciting.

The complex felt pen drawing of a Gothic Cathedral by Roberta Shapiro is a beautiful work and looks as though it might have been fun to do. Every inch of the cathedral form is covered with linear work almost overwhelming the onlooker, very much like the effect the sculpture of the actual cathedral has on the beholder. She has captured the essence of her subject.

The imaginative "Black Sheep" by Marsh Scott is made of paper mache and covered with cotton puff balls from fringe most decorative and good fun. Vickie Wellock's floral creative embroidery in its gay colors is most appealing.

The lino-block of Bob Peshin's "Turning Point" is well designed and has a psychological impact. Involved in the print are many of the symbols which reflect the concerns of youth today.

From Youth Center Some of the batiks executed at the Princeton Youth Center are outstanding. Diane Burk's batik in subtle greens is particularly effective. The tensions created by a complex textural pattern marching across the square of color balanced by the almost two thirds of plain area are exciting. The multi-toned orange tie-dye batik shirt by Paul Harris is also interesting.

The watercolor emphasizing the transparent qualities of that medium by Paul Goodment is unusual. His flowing forms create a beautiful abstract.

Present Day. It is interesting to find so many people working in the art field in a club such as the Present Day Club, which is not specifically art oriented. The fine member's show at the club through May is something of which they can be proud.

Two watercolors particularly stand out: Ruth Ann McPherson's, "Allen Byrd House in Williamsburg, Virginia" is appealing with its soft warm ds in the rectangular forms contrasted with the tree forms. Maxwell's watercolors of which stress the Pine forms adams, shocking white area are successful.

The warm collages of Hellier are pleasant Mavan Fantasy bits of broken and acrylic Stanford's of Sand Dunes is exquisite.

The new color print show, Color Prints of the Americas at the New Jersey State Museum was greatly enriched and clarified by the lecture given by Jud Brodsky well known Pennington printmaker.

This roundtable discussion was given at the museum to further an understanding of the contemporary work shown at the museum has been most successful.

Mrs. Brodsky's clearly stated explanation of technique combined with her explorations of the aesthetics behind her own and other contemporary printmakers' work, deepened the understanding and enjoyment of those attending.

Rudy Pozzatti's "Apollo" a multiple image print involving space age symbols is exceptionally fine. The collograph, "Stone Henge" by Naomi Limont is also a beautiful print. Since the works shown represent the whole continent, there is a wide diversity in this collection of exciting work.

SHOW IN FLEMINGTON

At Peter Jones Gallery The works of three New Jersey artists, Ruth Krieger, Jean Schonwalter and Anne Steele Marsh, are being shown at The Peter Jones Art Gallery in Flemington, through May.

Mrs. Krieger, whose works are in the permanent collections of a number of museums and who has won a number of awards, is a member of Artists Equity, The Connecticut Academy of Fine Arts and treasurer of Associated Artists of New Jersey. She uses very strong and vibrant colors, coupled with strong imagery which on the one hand is representational and on the other is inventive. She is, above all, a craftsman and imaginative

Jean Schonwalter is a painter, a printmaker and a sculptor. She holds numerous awards.

PROJECT DISPLAY SET

By Sharon Art Students. More than 2,000 projects created by arts and crafts students of Sharon Studios will be exhibited at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 19-21. Works in wood, metal, stone, wax, weavings, plastics, ceramics and painting are included in the display, which will be open to the public from 9 to 9.

According to studio director Ruth Sharon, the exhibit represents a full year's work by 109 students aged 6 to 17. Included are self portraits in copper by all the students. A similar show last year drew more than 700 people opening night, and the three days of the show were busy with class tours from Princeton schools.

This year, the show will open Monday night with attendance by invitation only.

YOUNG ARTIST: Thom Bryan, a studeat at the Sharon Studio, working on a sketch of Nassau Street. Some 2,000 projects of Ruth Sharon's pupils will be on display Tuesday through Thursday next week at the Jewish Center.

THE SPARK OF CREATION

Is Subject of Film. How does an artist create a piece of sculpture? Next Wednesday afternoon, the audience at the Chapin School Art Lecture will have a chance to find out: James Seawright, sculptor in residence for Princeton University, will personally narrate a movie showing how he works.

Mr. Seawright's approach to sculpture will end the Chapin series of art lectures for this season. Tickets will be sold at the door, in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Valley Road. The lecture will begin at 1.

After obtaining a B.A. at the University of Mississippi, Mr. Seawright studied under Jose De Creeft at the New York Art Students League. He has taught at the Columbia-Princeton Electronic Music Center, at the Schnol of Visual Arts in New York City, at Rutgers, and lately at Princeton. One-man shows to his credit have been at the First Stable Gallery in New York, and at Philharmonic Hall in Lincoln Center.

In 1969 his precise, lighted sculptures could be seen in exhibits at the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, at Dartmouth, and on the nationally televised show, "The Medium is the Medium," a Theodoran Awards program which featured six artists.

Sculptures by Mr. Seawright are in the permanent collections of the Guggenheim Museum, the Museum of Modern Art, and the Whitney Museum of American Art, as well as in numerous private collections.

ARTIST'S WORK ON VIEW

At Trenton YWCA. Mrs. Joanne Augustine of Princeton is the exhibiting artist for the month of May at the Trenton YWCA. Her exhibit will be open to the public in the Kerney Lobby at 140 East Hanover Street, through May 28.

Mrs. Augustine belongs to the Princeton Art Association, the Hunterdon Art Museum, and the Garden State Watercolor Society. She has exhibited locally in New Jersey and at Penn State University.

In 1968 and 1969 she received first prize in the juried watercolor shows of the Princeton Art Association, held at McCarter Theater. Also last year she received second place award in the all-media show at Hunterdon Art Center. This year she received first prize in watercolor in the annual all-media show of the Princeton Art Association.

HUN STUDENTS EXHIBIT

In School Library. Paintings, drawings and sculpture by students in the Hun School "Studio Group," will be exhibited during May in the Margaret Dorrance Strawbridge memorial library at the school.

The public is invited to attend any weekday, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 5. Students represented in the show are enrolled in the school's studio art program, under resident artist Edward Arnold.

The nine students exhibiting include Neil Alexander, Kevin Apple, Steven Aronsky, Jonathan Green, F. Craig Haskett, Rusty Jones, Nelson Kline, Jonathan Miller, and Paul Nelson.

SPORTS in Princeton

SPORTS ARE IN TURMOIL

As Season Nears End, Unrest on the nation's campuses having reached unprecedented heights in the past fortnight, it is small wonder that cancellations and forfeits dot the remainder of spring sports schedules at Princeton.

In varying degrees, athletes have felt that their personal emotions transcend the logic of competing in the world of athletics. Some teams have disbanded entirely; most have been affected by the withdrawal of several of their members. Regular-season competition was scheduled to end this weekend, but on the calendar, at least — action remained in NCAA baseball, golf, tennis and, for the crew, participation in the national regatta at Syracuse.

The degree to which a season had been successful before the nation-wide strike began on college campuses apparently played no part in a team's decision to finish its schedule. Princeton's tennis team needed to win only three more matches in which it was heavily favored in order to capture the Eastern Association title, but voted to cancel all further play.

On the other hand, the lacrosse team, mired in one of the poorest seasons the sport has experienced at Princeton in more than 30 years, found enough of its players voting to continue their schedule. A scant 16 (in a sport which fields 10 and requires constant substitution) reported for Saturday's meeting with Yale, which the favored Elis barely won, 9 to 8.

The track team, earliest of all spring sport units to begin to dissolve, was not largely represented in either the New Jersey Intercollegiates or the Heptagonals, and will not hold its remaining meets with Yale or Cornell. The meet with the Elis had earlier been postponed at their request to keep it from coinciding with the Black Panther protest rally at New Haven.

Major casualty of the disruption in track was loss of the coach, Pete Morgan, who suddenly terminated a 24 year career at Princeton. His decision to do so came last week and while it was undoubtedly hastened by the team's preference not to continue full-fledged competition, Morgan's mounting dissatisfaction with the University's admissions policy was reportedly the decisive factor.

There were unscheduled changes Saturday at New Haven, where Army and Navy track teams withdrew 15 minutes before the Heptagonals began. Orders from West Point and Annapolis precipitated the move when the military felt it could not agree with a statement protesting acceleration of the Indo-China war prepared by the Ivy colleges. The slim Princeton contingent finished sixth, but won both the high jump and the pole vault.

The golf team lost its Eastern Intercollegiate title to Dartmouth, finishing third on the Yale course with 1,160 strokes. The Indians were surprise winners with 1,143; Penn State was the runner-up with 1,150. Bud Zachary of Princeton, the defending individual champion, finished third in medal rather than match play.

At Worcester, Princeton's crew was beaten by Dartmouth in the qualifying round, but second place was good enough to put the Tigers in the six boat final. Harvard won, with Penn second and Princeton third.

One of the starters in the varsity shell abstained from rowing in favor the peace movement, and his place was taken by a former jayvee. The Tiger crew wore strike symbols on its shirts and anti-war atmosphere in general pervaded the regatta.

BIG MAN, BIG BAT: Bob Schiffner has been hitting well over .300 all spring for Princeton baseball team. Tiger junior bats in clean-up spot and plays first base.

FIRST FORFEIT OCCURS

As Columbia Fails to Show, Modern Princeton athletic records do not include a precedent for the forfeit which occured Saturday when Columbia's baseball team did not put in an appearance for the scheduled doubleheader at Clarke Field. It was no surprise to the Tigers — Columbia had notified Director of Athletic Ken Fairman on Thursday that its team had voted not to finish out its schedule.

Princeton, however, is still hopeful of earning at least a first-place tie with Dartmouth in the Eastern League standings. On such a basis, the Tigers claimed a forfeit, with the two contests presumably going into the books as 7-0 victories, since the rule stipulates that a forfeit credits the team which is ready to play with one run for each scheduled inning.

In 1933, when former President John G. Hibben died following injuries received in an automobile accident, Princeton asked Columbia to agree to cancellation of the game scheduled on the day of his funeral. There was no forfeit, and the teams later played the second contest in the series in New York.

A dozen years later, a game scheduled for August 15 was never played. It was the day after V-J Day, and the service team which had been scheduled to face the war-time nine then wearing Orange and Black never showed. No one was surprised — celebrations were generally still in progress.

NCAA's Will Be Played Here. The District I NCAA Tournament will be played in Princeton over a three day period at the end of the month, starting either Thursday or Friday, May 28 or 29. Each of four competing teams must lose twice before it is eliminated, and the winner will represent the district in the College World Series at Omaha, starting June 8.

The four colleges selected for the tournament will be announced Monday. Strong possibilities include St. John's, Rutgers and Seton Hall, while the winner of the Middle Atlantic Conference (probably Lafayette or St. Joseph's) is an automatic.

Whether Princeton, in the final week of one of its best seasons since the early '50s, would make it was anyone's estimate. A year ago, the Tigers were 14-7 overall, 12-3 against District II teams but unInvited because Dartmouth, the Eastern League champion, was picked from District 1 and NCAA rules prohibit more than one team from any conference being named.

Wolff Tops St. John's Again. It is doubtful if more than one pitcher in college today holds a 3-0 mark against St. John's, which year in and year out is the best team in this section of the country. Bob Wolff of Princeton does, having added a 6-4 decision Thursday over the Redmen to the two games he won (one in 13 innings) in his sophomore and junior years.

Wolff's highly deliberate style, underscored by a complete halt in his pitching motion, has bothered the hard hitting Brooklyn nine in every game. In the first two contests, he had given up only six hits and a lone run in 22 innings. The Princeton right-hander needed help from Jack Hittson in the ninth last week, but that was forthcoming with this patch and the Tigers won their ninth in a row to raise their record to 17-5.

As they have on numerous occasions this year, the victors started fast. Bob Schiffner's triple to left on a round one driving in two. Three more in the fifth gave Wolff what appeared to be a comfortable lead, but the visitors picked up one in the sixth and added three more in their half of the eighth when usually reliable Princeton fielding let Wolff down. During the game, however, three double plays were of major assistance.

An insurance run in the home half of the eighth eased the strain, but when Wolff walked the first man to face him and a line drive to left was snared by Doug Blake, after a hard run, Hittson came on. He retired the next two batters to give Wolff his unique distinction of never having lost to powerful St. John's.

BANNON'S BACK but just in time as Notre Dame pitcher Joe Bubal, who has one of the fastest pickoff moves around, has PHS outfielder Jeff Bannon spread-eagled in the dust. Moments later Bannon had to hit the dirt again. Action took place in first inning of 5-4 loss to the visiting Irish.

PHS NINE EDGED

By Notre Dame, 5-4

At bottom — and that's where it is — the Princeton High School team has not been playing ball. But the fact remains that nine games into a 17-game schedule, the Little Tigers are still looking for victory number one.

"It's just a question of getting a hit at the right time," said PHS coach Harry Zoll. The game against Notre Dame Friday served as a good example when PHS had the tying runner on base in the last inning but failed to bring him home.

Reduced to the role of spoiler now, the Little Tigers will be away for their next three games, starting with Trenton

High on Thursday. Friday, the team will be at Franklin and it will oppose Notre Dame again on Tuesday.

The Trenton contest is a makeup of a game rdined out April 23.

Aside from the first inning when PHS scored one run on a stolen base on ...ree errors, the Little Tigers were held scoreless by N... Dame pitcher Joe Hubal. The team's first hits, singl s by Ray Pettus and Jeff Bannon in the sixth, were wasted.

Notre Dame, meanwhile, which entered the game with a 7-3 mark, pecked away at PHS hurler Joe DeMeglio. The Irish scored one run in the first, third and fourth innings, and two more in the fifth to take a 5-1 lead. Through six innings it touched DeMeglio for eight hits.

Last Inning Rally. First base man Walt Dimitruk opened Princeton High's last scoring chance with a w lk. D n Crosby, pinch hitting for Mark Anderson, singled between first and second, and Dimitruk scored when Bob Bruschi followed with another single. Then when Hubal was unable to come up with John Hodges' dribbler toward the mound for an error, the bas s were jammed with no one out, and PHS trailed by three.

Next up, Breezy Boccanfuso lined a ground ball that was initally fumbled. A hurried throw nipped Hodges at second but a return throw to third was wild. Bruschi and Crosby scored to cut Notre Dame's margin to one run, 5-4.

Pettus fanned for the second out, but Bannon singled off the second baseman's glove. Boccanfuso stoping at third. "I never thought that it would be this exciting" said Zoll from the bench.

Jeff Grover worked Hubal to a 3-2 count, fouled off two and then struck out to end it.

Leave Eight Stranded Against St. Anthony's last Wednesday, PHS left eight men on base but failed to score a run. "Twice we had the bases loaded, once in the first inning with one out and we couldn't get a man over," said Zoll. The final score was 5-0.

PHS collected four hits off two St. Anthony pitchers, including a double by Mark Anderson. Grover, Allen Campbell and losing pitcher Lou-John Rossi had singles. Rossi's record in 0-2. Steve Gore, the winning pitcher (3-2), homered for St. Anthony.

COUNTY MEET SATURDAY

In High School Track. Princeton High School will be among those competing in the annual Mercer County Meet to be held Saturday at Stemert High School's new track.

The opening trials will start at 11 a.m. Princeton's best chance for a blue ribbon rides on Lawrence Parker in the javelin. Ewing High School has won the event for the past three years.

On Monday, the Little Tigers will entertain Somerville in a dual meet starting at 4, and will be at Lawrence High School Wednesday. This Wednesday afternoon they were scheduled to tangle with the Bulldogs of Hopewell Valley Regional High in Pennington.

Saturday, PHS was one of 10 schools which competed in a Conference Relay held in Elizabeth. Coach Larry Ivan entered teams in the 440 relay, the mile sprint medley and the 2½ mile distance medley relay.

The competition was rugged. "We didn't do well at all," said Ivan. "Hamilton got a second in the 440 but all the rest was North Jersey."

Competing in the 440, in which each boy runs 110 yards, were Phil White, Lawrence Parker, Don Owens and Mel Franklin. In the mile sprint (440, two 220s and and 880), PHS were Scott Dougall (110) Parker and Owens, and Joe Bolster (880). Running the 2½ mile distance relay were Bob Best, Steve Foltiny, Jim Willard and Roland Smith.

Bolster ran his 880 in 2:07 which would have won most dual meets, Ivan reported, and Dougall's time of 53.4 in his 440 leg was his best effort of the season. White and Parker ran 22.7 220s.

St. Anthony Wins. On Friday, PHS which had won its first meet of the season when it took a first in the final event, was itself the victim of some last minute triumphs by St. Anthony.

After 12 of 14 events, the meet was tied, 54-54. However, in the final two events the PHS first place finishers were Joe Bolster in the mile, Steve Foltiny in the 880 and Richie Jackson in the high third by Bruce Wright in the long jump. As a result, the visiting Iron Mikes won their third of seven dual meets, 68-58, while PHS lost its sixth in seven starts. Sweeps by St. Anthony in the pole vault and two mile were the difference.

The most exciting finish came in the 220, where both Lawrence Parker of PHS and Jeff Grohaln were timed in 23.8. Parker was awarded first place on a better lean at the tape. Parker also won the javelin with a toss of 167-8.

Paul Riddell won the high hurdles, placed second in the lows and took a third in the high jump for nine points. Other first place finishers for PHS were Joe Bolster in the mile, Steve Foltiny in the 880 and Richie Jackson in the high

It can manage the whole team.

A Volkswagen Station Wagon will take half a ball game to a ball game.

It will hold nine players, fifteen pieces of luggage, balls, bats, bases and a goodly supply of crylng towels.

It will do all that while averaging a good 23 miles to a gallon of gasoline. (A feat comparable to hitting .400 or winning 30 games.)

It will do all that on 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts. (Like going 5 for 5 instead of 5 for 20.)

It will do all that without a radiator. (No radiator, no water to boil over, no errors.)

And finally it will do all that for as little as $2,772*

Don Owens (100), Roland Smith (mile), Scott Dougall (440), Bill Beachell (javelin), and Chris Muslow (shot), captured second places for the Blue and White.

Woodside Sidelined. Princeton's fortunes slipped another notch when Steve Woodside was forced to give up the sport. Woodside, the only hope of PHS in the pole vault, aggravated a knee injury he had received playing soccer and has been ordered to give the knee a rest.

LAST HOME GAME FRIDAY

For PHS Lacrosse Team. The final home game of the season for the Princeton High School lacrosse team will be held at Community Park Friday at 3:45 with upstate Boonton providing the opposition.

After that, only games with George School in Newtown, Pa. and at Montclair High School remain. The Little Tigers presently own a 3-8 record, following losses last week to Hanover Park and Hun School.

Coach Marvin Trotman who is fighting a losing battle to maintain the paper-thin depth of his midfield has suffered on other setback. In his team's meeting with Hanover Park Saturday, his co-captain, Mark Rosso, broke his ankle in the third period and will be out the remainder of the season. Home team Hanover Park was ahead 5-3 at the time and went on to post a 7-3 final.

Then when Mike Tomlinson, another middy, got thrown out for fighting, Trotman was down to six. He was forced to use all the PHS subs who made the trip. Last year, when PHS won only three, it defeated Hanover Park twice.

Rosso scored one PHS goal before he was hurt. Phil Nollner and Hugh Fitzpatrick had the other two.

Earlier in the week, PHS, as it has in nearly every game all season, scored the first goal in its match with Hun.

"But we just fell apart later on," said Trotman, who added: "We just don't have the depth at all."

The final score was Hun seven, PHS four. Tim Taggart, Nollner and Tomlinson accounted for the Little Tigers' scoring.

NETMEN BLANK TRENTON

Three Matches Next Week. The Princeton High School tennis team, in the midst of finishing another fine season, will play three matches in six days next week.

Friday, it will entertain neighboring Princeton Day School in what should be an interesting contest. Tuesday, coach Bill Humes' squad will be at Ewing and at Franklin the following day. This Wednesday, it was scheduled to play at Lawrence High School.

It was a "lovely" afternoon Friday for the Little Tigers, as they swamped visiting Trenton High School, 5-0, losing only six of 66 games. No. 1 singles player Robbie Sonnenschein and both PHS doubles teams won, 6-0, 6-0.

The victory for the number two doubles of Steve Ettinghausen and Bill Tabolasky gave them a perfect 4-0 mark thus far. The other PHS pairing was comprised of senior Laurie Bloom and sophomore Bill Schmidt.

The number 2 singles player, sophomore Danny Thompson won 6-2, 6-1, and Michel Glouchevitch, the number 3 singles, reversed those scores, winning 6-1, 6-2. Glouchevitch is also a sophomore.

The victory was Princeton's fifth in six matches. Trenton's record dipped to 1-6.

PDS DROPS TOUGH ONE

To Germantown Friends. Entering the final full week of Penn-Jersey competition, the Princeton Day baseball team still had a shot at the title in the league's day school division, but a loss Friday to Germantown Friends pretty much ended the Panthers' hopes.

Germantown, one game ahead of PDS, has 4 games left with Friends Central and Academy of the New Church, and is not expected to lose either. PDS also has contests with the same opponents, but must count on a Germantown loss, in addition to winning all its games, to tie for the title.

A 7-1 thrashing of George School last Wednesday appeared to put the Blue and White in good form for Friday's showdown with Germantown, but when the dust had settled, the Panthers were on the short end of a 4-3 score. Whereas they had hit well with men on base against George, they failed in the clutch against Germantown.

PDS got a man as far as second every inning, but could only produce a single tally in the fourth and two more in the sixth. Germantown, with two in the third and two in the fifth, eeked out the victory.

A double by Terry Booth and an error on a ball hit by Carl Jacobelli gave the Panthers' their first run, and Kirk Moore and Jimmy Rodgers hit run-producing singles for the other two.

Dave Claghorn pitching well in limiting Germantown to six hits, while fanning eight and walking three, deserved a better fate.

Against George School, Claghorn was not as sharp, but had no trouble, getting through seven innings. The losers produced their lone score in the first, but the PDS tied it in its half of the first, went one up in the third, and put the game out of reach with four more in the fourth.

PDS LOSES TWO

In Lacrosse. With a scheduled game Wednesday against Rutgers Prep and a contest Friday against Clifton High School, the Princeton Day lacrosse team is hoping for easier going this week than last, when it was shutout 8-0 by a top-notch Poly Prep squad and beaten 6-2 by undefeated Kimberton School. Action on Friday will begin at 4 p.m. at Princeton Day.

It took Poly Prep just 14 seconds from the opening faceoff to find the mark, and this pretty well set the stage for the rest of the game, as the visitors built up their lead from there. "We were never really in the game," coach Clint Wilkins commented.

The Panthers played on mostly even terms with Kimberton throughout the first half, and were only a goal behind at 3-2 at the intermission. However, the winners held the Blue and White scoreless in the second half and pumped in three more goals. Bob Salup accounted for both PDS scores.

Wilkins said the team had about 18 shots in all on the goal, but none of them were particularly outstanding. He added that PDS was often forced to play a man down as a result of several penalties.

PDS's record fell to 2-5 on the season. After Friday's contest, the team has two more remaining, one against Hun on Wednesday, May 20, another against Penn Charter on Friday, May 22.

TWO GAMES LEFT

For Hun School Nine. Games with George School on Saturday and Perkiomen on Wednesday are the final two of the season for the Hun School baseball team. Both contests will be played on the Hun diamond, starting at 2:30.

Both are must wins for Hun if it hopes to enter the playoffs starting next weekend. Perkiomen, which is leading the boarding school division of the Penn-Jersey League, of which Hun is a member, is the leader but Hun is still in contention mathematically.

Hun was scheduled to visit Pennington this Wednesday afternoon for a 2:30 league contest.

Last week, Hun split a pair of games to non-league opponents. It came from behind to defeat Pingry, 6-4, Saturday, and lost the previous day in the last inning to visiting Toms River, 7-5.

Pingry jumped to an early lead when it scored all its runs runs in the first inning. Hun scored one in the first, two more in the fourth on Dick Embley's key single and won the game with a three-run rally in the fifth. "It was a good come-from behind win," commented coach Dave Leete.

Consecutive singles by Al Chalifoux, Pete Jones and Mike Rossi highlighted the game-winning rally. Jones and Rossi combined for four of Hun's seven hits. Mike Maguire, workhorse of the Hun mound staff, survived the first inning and went on to pick up his fourth win of the season. Hun is currently 6-4.

In the game with Toms River, the score was tied, 4-4, going into the last inning. The shore team rallied for three runs and when Hun could get only one back in its last chance, it made a loser of Bob Ruby, the Hun pitcher.

NEW SEASON BEGUN

By Business Softball League.

A new season has started for the Princeton Business Softball League, with some new teams joining some of the traditional front-runners at the top of the division standings after the first two weeks of play.

In the east, McGraw-Hill and Accelerator, no strangers to first place, are in a triple tie for first with FMC. All have 2-0 records. In the West, newcomer Cities Service and Hopewell TV share the top spot with a 2-0 mark. The West has only seven teams this season because of the withdrawal of Dow Jones, while the East has the usual eight.

Weekly play will run through Tuesday, August 11, with two nights set aside for inter-division contests. Post-season playoffs will determine the league champion.

McGraw-Hill and Accelerator opened with lopsided victories over both their opponents. The former walloped RCA B, 21-2, and ETS, 17-3, while Accelerator bombed Shearer Tree Service, another new entry, 20-1, and RCA B, 20-4. FMC showed it may be ready to make a run at the championship this year with a 18-7 pasting of ERC, and a 5-4 squeaker over American Cyanamid.

Cities Service pounded Shell Chemical, 16-5, and nipped NCA, 8-7. NCA gained a split in the first two games with a 12-7 win over RCA A. Hopewell TV is off to its best start in years with two consecutive wins, the first over Firmenich, 15-6, the second over Shell in a pitchers' battle, 26-22.

RCA Astro, which only played one game, came out on top, 18-1, over Firmenich; Cyanamid split its pair, beating ETS 17-10, after its loss to FMC; and ERC also gained a split with a 6-2 win over Shearer's.

McPHERSON VICTOR

In Carnegie Sailing. Three classes of sailboats raced Sunday May 10 in the Mother's Day event of the Carnegie Sailing Club.

Sloop class was won by Jim McPherson with 31.4 points, closely followed by Tom Huntington with 30.8 points. Third place was a tie between Bill Rogers and Tom Truitt, who had 25.7 points apiece.

John Hopfield won the Penguin class with 18.4 points, while Dexter Miller took second with 17.0. Third place went to Bill O'Donnell with 12.9.

In one of the races, 11 Sunfish were competitors. The class went to Bob Holzman, overall winner with 54.5 points. Second place was won by Jack Reeder with 42.6 points, and Dan Mazzarella took third with 40.1.

TENNIS CLASSES SET

Brochures Have Been Mailed. The Princeton Community Tennis Program has released its schedule of summer classes, which begin June 15. The beginner, advanced beginner and intermediate groups will continue meeting through August, and weekly registration is possible.

The advanced program, under head coach John Conroy and Army's varsity coach Bill Cullen, will operate only through July 31.

Brochures describing the classes and schedules have been mailed out this week, and anyone who does not receive one may pick up a copy at the recreation office of Township Hall, or at the University Store or Hinkson's. School coaches in the area also have copies.

Mrs. Lewis S. Kraft, director of the program, this week appealed for interested volunteer parents who would like to donate a few hours to help the program with car pools, telephoning, hospitality, housing, tournament registration or umpiring. Interested adults should contact Mrs. Akira Asano, 510 Lake Drive, at 921-2182, or one of the chairmen of the sanctioned tournaments.

The chairmen are Mrs. Blan Aldridge (921-2847,) Mrs. Henry Broad (924-2842,) Mrs. Leon Lapidus (921-7386,) and Mrs. Jerome Webster (924-

Last week the Junior Tennis Committee met to begin planning junior tournaments, league play and exchange matches this summer.

PHS LOSES ANOTHER

To Steinert, 6-2. Hard-luck Princeton High School pitcher Joe DeMeglio who has pitched well in all his starts this season but who has been the victim of poor support in the field and at the plate, suffered the same fate Tuesday at Steinert.

Joe pitched six-hit ball but a two run error in the eighth inning sparked a four run rally that gave the Spartans their seventh win of the season, 6-2. Winless PHS is 0 8 1.

Steinert hurler Dave Owen was even more effective. He fanned 11, walked one and yielded five hits, one a home run by Mark Anderson in the third which gave PHS a brief 1-0 lead. LouJohn Rossi doubled and Walt Dimitruk, Jeff Grover and DeMeglio singled for the losers.

PHS 90-36 VICTIM

Of Steinert In Track. Once beaten Steinert had little trouble dispensing with Princeton High School here Monday in a dual track meet as the Spartans captured 10 of 14 firsts, including sweeps in the discuss, pole vault and two mile, to win easily, 90-36.

First place finishes by Joe Bolster in the mile, Scott Dougall in the 440 and Lawrence Parker in the 220 and javelin accounted for 20 of those 36 points. The Little Tigers (1-7) lost any chance of making it close when they managed to win only three seconds: Paul Riddell in the high hurdles, Steve Foltiny in the 880 and Ron Rhoades in the long jump.

TIGERS TRIPPED TWICE

By Rutgers, 6-2 and 2-1. A long winning streak that had lasted since April 18 came to an end this week for Princeton's baseball team as it was defeated Monday and again on Tuesday by Rutgers. The 6-2 and 2-1 losses severely jolted the Tigers' hopes of landing a berth in the NCAA District 11 Tournament (see page 30).

Jack Hittson was the victim in the first game, absorbing his first defeat after seven victories this spring. The Tigers opened with two in the first but could not score a gain, while Hittson was liberally tagged for a dozen safties.

At New Brunswick Tuesday Bob Wolff allowed only three hits but was the victim of an unearned run in the home half of the eighth. With the score tied 1-all, third baseman Bernie Barrett's overthrow on a grounder was followed by a double that gave the Scarlet the winning margin.

Again the Tigers scored first. Arnie Holtberg's third inning single productug their lone run of the day. They face Temple at Clarke Field Thursday at 4 and finish against Fordham away on Friday in their final regularly scheduled game this year.

BIG DAY AT THE PLATE

Hun Batsmen Win, 13-3. The Hun School baseball team erupted for 13 runs here Monday to defeat Friends Central in a Penn-Jersey League contest, 13-3.

Hun scored six runs in the first and added five more in the second to coast to its seventh win of the season against four defeats. A home run by Pete Jones and Al Chalifoux's triple sparked the Hun assault on the Quakers. Bob Roby was the winning pitcher.

Topics Of The Town

CAR HITS POLE

Driver Gets 4 Tickets. A 25-year-old Trenton woman received four summonses following an accident Saturday evening on Bayard Lane when her car went off the road and struck a service pole.

Paula J. Fowler, 25, was carried from her car, which had caught fire, and taken by the First Aid and Rescue Squad to Princeton Hospital. There she was treated for a nose injury and later released. At 10:45 p.m. some 45 minutes after the mishap, Pfc. Thomas Michaud tried to question her at the hospital but was unable to obtain a statement.

Sunday at 4 p.m., Miss Fowler told him a tire had blown out and she was unable to control her car. The investigation revealed that the Fowler car left the road, struck an embankment and then rammed a utility pole, 55 feet south of Stanworth Drive.

Her car's entire front end was damaged. It was judged a total loss by the police. Miss Fowler was ticketed for driving with a hazardous tire condition, driving an unregistered vehicle, being an unlicensed driver and failing to have her car inspected on time.

$104 IS STOLEN

From Princeton Playhouse. A thief stole $104 from the desk of Richard Knight, manager of the Princeton Playhouse, between 11:30 Thursday night and 11:37 the next morning, when the loss was reported by Jack Yeoman of Palmer Square, Inc.

Police said that the door to the office had been pried open. The culprit probably hid inside the theatre after the show was over. Chief Peter J. McCrohan said.

TV Sets Stolen.

Theft of two television sets was reported Thursday to Borough police.

One, valued at $300, was taken from the Camous Club, 3 Prospect Avenue. The other, a portable color set, was removed from the Day Care Center in the basement of the Baptist Church, John and Avalon Place. No value was given to police.

Wallet Stolen.

Dan D. Coyle, 11 University Place, called police at 11:18 Thursday night to report the theft of his wife's red leather wallet containing $35 from a first-floor closet.

Mrs. Coyle was upstairs watching television at the time. Later, she reported that she had heard sounds below, but thinking it was her husband returning home, paid no attention.

COUPLE ASSAULTED

By Man with Gun. Township police have lodged two charges of assault with a deadly weapon against a 23-year-old man from Boston.

Don R. Bryant is presently free on $1,000 bail to await a court hearing. He voluntarily came to Township headquarters on Monday, police said.

According to police, an argument arose between Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tayor of South Brunswick early Thursday afternoon in a driveway of Princeton Day School, where the Taylors are employed. It allegedly centered around Bryant and the Taylor's 20 year-old daughter.

Police said Bryant struck Mrs. Taylor with the gun and pointed it at Mr. Taylor.

Lewis Wins Tournament

Robert Lewis took three matches last week to win the annual President's Cup Tournament at Springdale Golf Club. He reached the semi-finals with 4 and 2 victory over Bill Pearce and then eliminated Karl Pettit, Jr., 2 and 1.

His opponent in the final round was Kenneth Dawes, Jr., who had advanced by defeating Richard Liebler. Dawes squared the match by winning the 18th but Lewis won with a par 4 on the first extra hole to Dawes' 5. Lewis had also been the medalist with a net 69 in the qualifying round.

The difference between a dead-end cellar and a basement-for-living

Without direct access to the out-of-doors, your basement becomes a seldom used, dead-end area, instead of a "live", low-cost space for the enjoyment of your whole family.

A BILCO Basement Door costs so little when it's included in the foundation construction. With it, you will as much as double the living space of your new home! Let us show you how easily and inexpensively you can include a BILCO Door and Stair Stringers in your building plans.

The Princeton Interfaith Council executive committee calls on the people of the Princeton Community to

1) affirm the decisions and commend the process by which the University Community took action last week in opposition to the widening war in Southeast Asia

2) register protest against the widening war in Southeast Asia by immediately urging New Jersey senators to support the Hatfield-McGovern amendment No. 609 to HR 17123 Military Procurement Bill (the amendment proposes the withholding of all money for the war in Southeast Asia except for the expenditures required for withdrawing all American troops from Southeast Asia)

SEMINARIANS RALLY

For Political Action. The Princeton Seminary Community held an unprecedented series of meetings on political issues last week.

It voted to drop graduation exercises in favor of a memorial service honoring all who have died "in the present domestic strife and in the Indo Chinese War." It referred the matter to the senior class.

The PSC censured the board of trustees for refusing to take a stand on the war in Cambodia, and censured both trustees and administration for refusal "to taken even minimal action to insure that fair employment practices are put into effect at PTS."

In the week's action the PSC funneled student volunteers into the Princeton University political action movement and set up its own coordinating group for the coming elections.

At Thursday's meeting, third of the week by the student-faculty body, the group voted to request the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church "to immediately divest itself of all defense-related stocks and bonds — and to use the funds to aid moral and humanitarian causes."

Faculty Also Involved. "At least half" of the Seminary student body is involved, according to the co-chairmen of the steering committee, Bruce Stuart and James Picket. Numerous faculty members are also taking part, they said. The Student Council voted the PSC its full support.

"We feel that the President of the United States and other Administration officers have vitally affected the immediate future of a lot of young people — and also the long range future of the type of country we are going to have," Mr. Pickett said.

The PSC voted that the Seminary declare "open admissions to all students with bachelors degrees and declare the seminary a sanctuary from the war to comfort those in their struggle and provide legal defense in their struggle against the draft." A letter to other seminaries asking them to join in the resolution was mailed last weekend.

The Princeton Seminarians have circulated petitions in favor of the Hatfield-McGovern amendment to the military appropriations bill now before the United State Senate. In other actions, a delegation went to Washington early in the week to talk to key Congressmen. Others plan to attend the General Assembly as lobbyists for the stocks and bonds resolution.

The Tanak Society (Old Testament Faculty and Doctoral Students) has volunteered to serve as coordinators of the summer and fall political action programs involviog students.

"The American invasion of Cambodia and the weekend bombing of North Vietnam have generated deep moral revulsion and severe and widespread apprehension among students for the ministry on our campus," President James I. McCord said in a telegram to President Nixon last Thursday: "I share these apprehensions. . . ."

SPECIAL SERVICE HELD

In War Protest. A "Service of Agony and Intercession," asking for peace in Vietnam and at home, was held at 12:30 p.m. Sunday by the Battle Monument at Borough Hall. The Princeton Pastors' Association and Princeton Interfaith Council were co-sponsors.

The service, organized in mid-week, was announced in the Princeton churches during the morning worship services. About 250 persons attended.

Participants were the Rev. Robert L. Cope, minister of the Unitarian Church and president of the Pastors' Association; President Robert F. Goheen of Princeton University, Rabbi Norbert Samuelson of the Hillel Foundation; Mrs. Edith Chamberlain, James Floyd, Martha Stange and the Rev. Robert Martin, co-chairman of the Interfaith Council.

"Most of the students understand that to effect what they want to accomplish, they have to use mind as well as emotion," President Goheen stated. He was impressed, he said, by the way the student body and faculty are trying to find a peaceable solution.

Noting that while a large body of students desire to be "non coercive and constructive" he warned that "there is a situation of very great danger now, just east of the campus. I.D.A. has been blocked for some days by some who are deeply radicalized in their point of view and by some who are deeply dispairing. Our ability to avoid a confrontation that may cause a major conflagration is uncertain."

Mrs. Edith Chamberlain, stating that she was "asked to speak in behalf of the concerned elder generation," addressed the young people. "I share with you many frustrations—but I also have great hope."

She added, "Something has been loosened. This has come out of great tragedy, great violence, and I believe our country is more unified than it has been for a long time. Our protest is against violence. Let us not make more of it."

James Floyd spoke briefly, asking in conclusion, "When are we going to take a line from the old Negro spiritual, 'I Ain't Gwine Study War No More.' Martha Stange cited constructive elements in the student anti-war demonstra-

"WE NEED to help each other, to be humble . . . and to recognize that there is creative potential in times that are turbulent." President Robert F. COME UP THE HILL IN BLOSSOM TIME —

Up to the Ridge in Princeton. Here in a bower of flowering trees — dogwood, apple, pear and crab — we boast a honey of a house. Light bright and breezy, with large areas of glass, elegant decor — but still an informal atmosphere. The four bedrooms, three baths, small library that can double as a guest room give space aplenty for the growing family. And the fenced and decked pool — with access from both living room and master bedroom adds extra space for summer entertaining.

Neat, clean and ready to move into. A joy in spring — and all year long

A FASCINATING MODERN HOUSE

A very personal house, designed for a family of taste and discernment, its hub is a veritable treehouse of a living-dining room with high ceiling, walls of glass opening to balcony and sun deck and a skylight to collect the starshine. A spectacular room indeed! Below, opening to a paved play court is a childrens playroom with two adjoining bedrooms and baths. The master bedroom with its own bath, and a study with fireplace are quietly off in a wing apart. Two car carport. On 1½ acres of woods. A unique offering at $79,500.

TWO SUPERB PRINCETON HOUSE SITES

One, in the heart of the Western Borough, is a fully landscaped half acre with mature trees and shrubs of all kinds. The other is a dramatic, wooded hillside on a cul de sac in the Township. Both have all public utilities and are available immediately. Priced at $39,500 and $29,500 respectively.

HARMONY HILL FARM
ALL THE CHARM AND WARMTH OF ANTIQUITY, MANAGEABLE AS A HOUSE BUILT YESTERDAY.
Impeccably restored, with a countryside view across 130 acres rising to the highest overlook in the area, HARMONY HILL FARM combines rare appeals to the investor with the fast-disappearing charm of gracious country manor life.
The main house is small by "old stone house" standards, thus presents no more than the ordinary housekeeping problems in these servantless days. But all its eight rooms (and two baths) are spacious. More importantly, each is magnificently authentic in its restoration . . .
. . . the soft cherry panelling of the lovely living room with its beautifully modeled fireplace, (and a breathtaking view from every deeply recessed window)
. . . the dining room that was once the keeping room, with huge original pink brick fireplace and library chimney corner
. . . the kitchen with nothing forgotten in the planning for convenience and decor
. . . the four corner bedrooms (one with its rare "glory cupboard") and the broad landing at the head of the beautifully hand carved stair rail, are faithfully papered in old colonial design, with delicately matching woodwork.
The farm once supported a beef herd recently disbursed by the owners as they planned retirement, to which a sturdy and well kept machine shed will testify. To the investment-minded, the barn is distant enough for conversion into a handsome and roomy Dutch colonial house. This and the future sale of acreage in an area of escalating land values might well return to an imaginative owner the original purchase price of $225,000.
And you would be within six miles of a one hour deluxe commute to New York, and an easy 25 minutes to Princeton, and our office.
Please let us show you this delightful property.
